GIRL DEAD IN HOME AT BROOKLINE

When Herbert Baker, a rich resident of Brookline, tried to wake Mary Sullivan, who was employed in the family, early to-day and failed he entered the room and touched her on the shoulder. The flesh was cold. Then he realized that the young woman was dead.

Medical Examiner Sturtevant, who was quickly summoned, gave it as his opinion that the girl had been dead at least thirty hours, and that death had been caused by acute indigestion.

The Bakers had been away for ten or twelve days and returned last night. Mr. Baker passed Mary's room at 11 o'clock, saw her in bed and presumed she was asleep.

The Bakers live at No. 53 Brington road. Mr. Baker got up at 7:30 to-day and not seeing any signs of breakfast went to Mary's room. He knocked on the door. There was no response. He called to her and received no reply. He found the door open and walked into the room. Attempting to rouse the young woman by gently shaking her shoulder, he shrank back when his fingers touched her. Calling his wife he said:

"Mary is dead."

Dead About 30 Hours.

Mr. Baker called the police on the telephone and also summoned Dr. Miller, who lives near by. The medical examiner said:

"I think the girl died from acute indigestion. It appears that she had been dead about thirty hours. There was some talk of Mary having been injured some time ago by a fall."

"Is there any indication that the young woman met with foul play?" Dr. Sturtevant was asked.

"Not so far as indications went," he replied.

Mr. Baker said that Mary had been in the employ of the family about six months.

Girl Acted Cheerful.

"We liked her very much," he said. "We had been away for about twelve days. I called Mary up on the 'phone from time to time to see how she was getting along. On Monday we were at Dennis, Mass., and I talked to Mary for the last time. I asked her how she was getting along and she said she was getting along all right. I asked her if she were lonesome and she said she was not. I asked her if she wanted us to hurry home and she said for us to stay as long as we liked. She appeared to be as cheerful as usual."

URGES LAWS TO REDUCE VOLTAGE

To reduce the voltage carried on electric wires is one of the important revisions of the statutes for which Wire Commissioner Cole requested Mayor Fitzgerald to-day to petition the next Legislature. The Wire Commissioner says that there are instances where the electric wires have been charged as high as 15,000 volts, making them exceedingly dangerous. Another revision desired is that the public service corporations be compelled to place more than two miles of wire under the streets each year.

KELIHER TO FILE BILL OF EXCEPTIONS

Harvey H. Pratt, of the counsel for "Big Bill" Keliher, accused of aiding and abetting George W. Coleman in wrecking the Cambridge Bank, held a consultation with United States District Attorney French to-day relative to the filing of the bill of exceptions taken to the evidence presented by the Government at the trial of Keliher.

Mr. Prass stated that he would submit the bill to-morrow to District Attorney French, who will look it over and arrange for a hearing before Judge Hale, probably on Sept. 7.

MILLIONAIRE REPORTED ILL OF TYPHOID FEVER

REGGIE VANDERBILT

R. VANDERBILT SERIOUSLY ILL

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—Reginald Vanderbilt is seriously ill at his Summer home, and is reported to be suffering from typhoid fever.

He is under the care of two physicians, Drs. Knapp, the family physician, and Dr. Austin Flint, who was summoned from New York.

BABY IS FATALLY BURNED BY MATCHES

Pearl E. Thompson, two years old, played with matches in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Thompson, in Columbia Terrace, Cambridgeport, this noon, and her dress caught fire. She is so badly burned from head to foot that her death is feared at the Cambridge Hospital. Her mother was getting dinner and the little girl was left alone for a moment. Her mother heard her scream in anguish. When she rushed into the kitchen the child was ablaze. Mrs. Thompson fractionally tore the burning garments off her babe, but not in time to prevent little Pearl from being terribly seared by the flames.

PERMIT REFUSED TO REBUILD BURNED HALL

Building Commissioner Everett to-day refused to grant the owners of Brodbine Hall, at the corner of Albany and Dover streets, a permit to reconstruct the building which was destroyed by the lumber wharf fire, unless the new structure is built of brick. The decision of the Building Commissioner means that the rebuilding of the majority of the structures destroyed in the lumber wharf fire will have to be of brick or some less combustible material than wood.

LARNED WINS FIRST SET FROM BUNDY

NEWPORT, Aug. 25.—In the presence of a great crowd here this morning, Larned, the national tennis champion, beat Bundy, the winner of yesterday's final with Wright, 61. Larned was in fine form and got the most of his games in easy style.

In the second set Bundy came back strong and defeated Larned in a spectacular match by the score of 7—5.

600 GRANGERS HOLD STATE FIELD DAY

Upward of 600 attended the field meeting at the farm of Clarence H. Cutler on Concord avenue, Lexington, under the auspices of Middlesex Central Pomona Grange. It was a State grange field day, and forty granges answered the roll call. Granges of other States were represented.

LARNED DEFEATS BUNDY

THE CASINO, NEWPORT, Aug. 25.—William A. Larned of Summit, N. J., retained his title of champion tennis player of the United States here to-day by defeating Thomas C. Bundy of Los Angeles, Cal. Larned won three out of five sets in a brilliant match, by the score of 6—1, 5—7, 6—0, 6—8, 6—1.

The match was one of the greatest exhibitions of tennis ever seen here, Bundy putting up a marvelous game against the clever Larned.

Ideal weather conditions greeted the tennis enthusiasts here to-day for the final struggle in the thirtieth national tennis tournament between Larned and Bundy, who won the national singles from Wright yesterday.

As early as 8:30 o'clock this morning, the vast crowd began to wend its way to the grounds of the Casino. Every seat in the grandstand had been sold out early yesterday. Every vantage point brought fabulous prices and it was necessary to turn down thousands.

Larned was out on the courts early in a preliminary warming up process with Colston and Whitney. He was in the best of form.

Bundy Took it Easy.

Bunday took things easy to-day and did not come out for any early practice. When asked what he considered his chances in the big match, he said: "I am in the best of form and will do my best to win the match. Of course I know that I am going up against an expert at the game in Larned, but nevertheless I am confident that when the match is over I will have proved to you all that I am the best man."

The betting on to-day's match was heavy, with 3 to 1 odds in favor of Larned. The California delegation was backing Bundy to the limit.

When Larned came out at 11 o'clock he was given a great hand. The champion appeared as cool as an iceberg. A few minutes later Bundy came out upon the lawn and got a tremendous cheer from the coast delegation.

Bundy Looked Nervous.

Bundy appeared to be nervous when the game started. Larned mixed his shots up well, using every variety known to the tennis world. He won the first game in easy fashion by the score of 4—0. In the second game Bundy appeared to find himself and, using a terrific overhard drive, won out by the score of 4—1. After this the champion was the master of the situation, mixing up his shots in great style. Now sending the ball skimming down the base line, now sending it to back court like a rifle shot, then gently tapping it over the net when Bundy was playing back. When the set came to an end Larned had scored 29 points against 14 for Bundy and the final score was 6—1 in favor of the champion.

Larned	4	1	4	5	4	7	4	—29—6
Bundy	0	4	1	3	1	5	0	—14—1

Bundy Wins Second Set.

In the second set Bundy came back strong and defeated the champion by the score of 7—5 in one of the most spectacular matches ever witnessed at a national tournament. The Pacific Coast star had lost his nervousness of the opening set.

The first two games were won by the Westerner by the scores of 5—3 and 4—2. In both games Bundy showed that he was complete master of the overhand drive, capturing point after point by this stroke alone. In the third game Larned was the winner after the game had gone to deuce. After this the game see-sawed, first one player leading then the other.

Larned attempted to win by every wrinkle known to scientific tennis, first charging with terrific overhand drives and then merely lobbing the ball over the net. When the set came to a close Bundy had scored 40 points against 38 for Larned. The final score:

Bundy	5	4	5	2	4	2	0	4	4	1	5	4	—40—7
Larned	3	2	7	4	2	4	4	2	1	4	3	2	—38—5

Bundy Captures the Fourth.

Bundy at all stages outplayed the old champion in the fourth set. He was aggressive and by his lobbing and clever tactics held Larned cramped as to position. While the champion tried he was unable to check the line cutting shots of the Californian and the latter pulled out the set amid wild applause.

Larned	3	7	4	2	4	4	1	4	2	4	1	4	0	2	—42—6
Bundy	5	5	6	4	6	1	4	2	4	2	4	1	4	4	—40—8

Larned Takes Third Set.

Larned showed up fresh for the third set, while Bundy looked to be weakening after his two gruelling struggles. Larned went at Bundy hammer and tongs, the Californian being literally swamped by the Old Master, who won out by the score of 6—0. In this match Bundy was completely at sea, failing to capture a solitary game from the champion.

This was one of the few times in a championship match that a set has been won in the least possible number of games. Larned played the ball all over the court, using every bit of strategy that he has collected in his ten years of experience. The champion did not rely on any particular stroke, but kept mixing them up.

Larned	4	4	4	4	4	4	—24—6
Bundy	2	2	1	0	2	1	— 8—0

At the opening of the fifth and deciding set the great gallery was keyed up to the highest pitch by the great playing of the two stars. Bundy was haggard after his hard and fast play of the fourth set. Larned won this set easily by the score of 6—1.

FIFTH SET.

Larned	2	4	5	4	5	4	4	—28—6
Bundy	1	1	3	1	3	2	1	—15—1

MALONE ACTS IN LAWRENCE MAYOR FIGHT

Attorney-General Dana Malone filed in the Supreme Court this afternoon a petition asking for a writ of mandamus to compel acting Mayor Thomas M. Jordan of Lawrence to call a meeting of the Common Council to take action on going into joint convention with the Board of Aldermen to elect a mayor to succeed William P. White, who is serving three years for bribery. The Attorney-General had heard the parties interested and had given the acting Mayor an opportunity to call the meeting of his own volition, which he repeatedly declined to do.

City Solicitor Murphy, appearing before the Attorney General at the direction of the Board of Aldermen, said the aldermen passed a vote requesting the acting-Mayor to call the Common Council in session, but he stated that in his opinion the city does not need a Mayor, and can get along very well with an acting-Mayor.

Acting-Mayor Jordan said his position is and has always been that he would call the council into session whenever they ask him to do so, but as they are taking their Summer vacation he did not think he ought to disturb them except upon their own request.

SUMMONED BY BABY, FINDS WIFE DEAD

Mrs. Bridget Higgins, thirty-two, of No. 54 Cedar street, Dorchester Lower Mills, was found dead in bed by her husband, Michael, early to-day. Mr. Higgins, who was awakened by the cries from his three-weeks-old baby, went into the next room where he found his wife. Dr. Joseph O'Brien was called, who pronounced death due to natural causes.

MRS. FRENCH TELLS OF LOVE FOR HEINZE

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The love feud between F. Augustus Heinze, the copper millionaire, and Mrs. Lillian French is waxing hotter every day. Heinze is engaged to marry Bernice Henderson. Mrs. French declares that she will sue Heinze if he marries anyone other than herself. She gave out to-day what she called the "Tale of her life." In it she says:

"This is a plain, unvarnished tale of my life. I am not attempting to protect myself or others.

"I met F. Augustus Heinze in 1898—twelve years ago; when I was seventeen. I am twenty-nine now. We have been very friendly since that time. I knew about this other woman some time ago. If a man is foolish enough to take up with another woman after he has declared his fidelity to one, let him do so.

"This is not a case of jealousy but of justice.

Describes the Rival.

"Since the day I met Mr. Heinze I have devoted the best years of my life to him. I have often been asked why he left me for this other woman, and friends have asked me to describe her. I will. She has red hair, wears eye glasses and has big hands and feet. Her shoulders are round. That is as complete a description as I can give of her.

"Mr. Heinze met the woman to whom he says he is engaged while she was playing 'The Vampire.' At that time she was living at a well-known hotel with her sister. They were known as the 'Golden sisters.' It was at this hostelry she met her former husband, Charles Henderson.

"I have lived the life of a hermit, so that nobody would know of our friendship. No one would have ever heard of Mrs. French had it not been for the Diss de Bar affair. I met Madame Diss de Bar at the New Thought Church. I found that she had travelled extensively and was well read.

"Heinze is only an incident, but I wish to say that I was in love with him, but that love has been killed. I have suffered, no one knows how much."

PASSENGERS FROM BOSTON ALL ESCAPED

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 25.—Grand Trunk Railroad officials here stated to-day that fourteen passengers are unaccounted for as a result of the wreck at Durand. Three victims were brought to Hurley Hospital here to-day. One, a Chicago woman, is dying. The bodies of six others, two of them women, were taken to Durand, burned beyond recognition.

IDENTIFICATION OF BODIES IMPOSSIBLE.

The list of known dead now numbers eight. Of these there is a possibility of only four ever being identified. Nothing remains of four bodies found in the wreck except charred skeletons. Three of the injured are so badly hurt that their recovery is doubtful. The fatally hurt are:

Bert Mitchell, Battle Creek, Mich., engineer of train No. 14; head crushed; Clinton A. Davis, Montreal, burned and cut; George Nelson, Battle Creek, Mich., fireman train No. 4, body scalded badly. Others injured are: Mrs. Lester Sheltes, Chicago; Mrs. Kate McBean, Chicago; Arthur Watt, Edmonton and Mrs. Lester Doehler, Tavistock, Ont.

When an attempt was made after daylight to remove the engine of No. 4, the body of a woman was found wedged beneath the boiler. The mangled and burned remains of another were found in the grass near the smoking ruins of the Pullman. Two of the injured at Hurley Hospital in this city are Chicago women. Only one of the bodies so far has been identified. It is that of a Mrs. Davis of Montreal.

Trapped in Berths.

Number 14, a Chicago-Toronto train, had stopped on account of a breakdown in the engine. Engineer Mitchell was beneath the engine at work. G. R. Graham, a brakeman, had been sent back to signal No. 4 to stop, but the latter crashed into the rear of No. 14, telescoping the sleeper and catching the passengers in their berths.

Engineer Mitchell's body was crushed by the wheels of his engine which was forced ahead by the crash. He died on the way to the hospital in Flint. Clinton A. Davis of Montreal, was one of the occupants of the sleeper; his head and breast were badly mangled. He was brought to Durand and attending physicians say he may recover. Davis said that his mother, an invalid, whom he was taking home from Fargo, N. D., and a trained nurse from St. John's Hospital in that city, whose name he did not know, were caught in the wreck and their bodies were burned.

Charles Spencer of Battle Creek, engineer of No. 4, says he heard a torpedo placed on the track to stop him, and put on air, but that No. 4 carried no rear lights. Spencer escaped by jumping, and called to his fireman, George Nelson, of Battle Creek. Nelson was unable to get clear of the cab, and his whole body was scalded as he lay beneath the wreckage.

Boston Pullmans in Train.

Train No. 4 is a fast Grand Trunk train carrying Pullmans for Boston, Portland, Montreal and Toronto, and was running at a speed of forty-five miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Efforts have been made to learn the fate of the score or more Chicagoans known to have been aboard the train. W. G. Cavan, stock manager for William Cooper, and nephews of Chicago, telegraphed his family that he was safe and expected to be home to-morrow morning. He escaped in his underclothes.

Among those known to have had reservations on the train are Miss Fannie Waterman, a debutante of last season, who was going to Boston; James McDean, Mrs. Helen McDean, his mother; James Cavan, a man named Doehler; E. Teelan, a man named Montague and another named Haskell.

MRS. NAT GOODWIN BACK FROM EUROPE

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Edna Goodrich, or Mrs. Nat Goodwin, arrived to-day from Europe on the Teutonic, and her first act was to deny the oft-repeated rumors of her separation from the actor. "Not a jot of truth in those stories," she said with a smile. Mrs. Goodwin will join her husband at Ocean Park, California, and will appear in New York later in the season with Mr. Goodwin.

GIRL RAFFLES YET BAFFLES DETECTIVES

The prettiest, most mysterious and cleverest girl "Raffles" who ever operated in Greater Boston is sought by the police, particularly by the detectives of Boston and Cambridge. These two cities are her favorite fields. The sleuths say she is a wonder.

She looks to be about sixteen, is a stylishly dressed blonde with a demure face and confiding manner. She is modesty personified and nobody she meets imagines for a moment she is an adept at larceny. She weighs about 100 pounds and carries a schoolgirl atmosphere into store or office where she gets a check cashed. First she steals the check.

When she first began to "work" in this vicinity the police thought her the agent of a gang of shrewd swindlers. Now they think she operates alone and has shown marvelous precocity in devising a new scheme in grafting.

Rifles Mail Boxes.

She will go to an apartment house and rifle the letter boxes. The mail she carefully sorts. Letters containing checks are put together. Then the letters containing bills rendered are put in another pile. If a department store has sent a bill for $5 to Mrs. So and So she will pay it with a check forwarded to that person or one made payable to Mr. Somebody, forging the indorsement on the latter bit of paper. She works a small bill against a good-sized check. She keeps the change. That is her profit. She has been committing thefts and forgeries in this vicinity since August 1, averaging in profits from $50 to $100 a day.

It is said that the Boston police are investigating many cases in which she has played her "Raffles" role with astounding success. So far she has outwitted detectives as cleverly as she has tricked business houses. When she goes to pay a bill with a check she always represents herself as the daughter of the person to whom the check is made out or to whom the bill is sent. She speaks of "papa" or "mamma" in the daintiest, most confidential way.

At the Cambridge police headquarters reports of being robbed or swindled pour in from prominent citizens or tradesmen.

Valuable Papers Stolen.

A. C. Evans of No. 18 Centre street and William F. Stearns of the same address were victims of her letter box depredations. A check for $50 was sent to Mr. Evans, while a bill for about $5 was mailed by a Boston department store to Mr. Stearns. She went to the store and paid the small bill with the large check, taking away about $45 as her profit.

She stole mail addressed to Edward H. Cook, which has caused a lot of trouble. He formerly lived at No. 2 Clinton street, but recently bought a house at No. 332 Broadway. Important papers relating to the transaction were mailed to him and the police think Little Miss Raffles got them.

Dr. Charles H. Thomas, formerly chairman of the Cambridge Health Board, sent a bill of $4 to a woman patient. The girl got hold of it and for the first time, so far as has been learned, tried to collect it. But she made a mistake. She picked out a woman of the same name, but not the patient.

ACTOR-AVIATOR IS INSURED FOR $50,000

An insurance policy of $50,000 to indemnify them in case Edward Abeles, star player in "The Aviator," is injured in flights, has been taken out by Cohan and Harris, under whose management the new comedy is to be produced. It will open at Atlantic City on Monday next. It has a mid-air scene which will show the star in a fifty-horse power Bleriot monoplane. The star would not consent to having some famous aviator for his understudy in the flying machine and insisted on learning how to drive an airship himself. He went to the Long Island course, where Harmon and others are doing thrilling stunts, and was taken into the ascension fraternity at once. He has made several flights alone, it is said.

HAYS HAMMOND IN $25,000,000 GUN COMPANY

The filing of a suit in the Supreme Court of New York city brought to light to-day the fact that John Hays Hammond, the close friend of President Taft, and Mr. Hammond's son Harris are interested in an auto gun capable of firing 2,000,000 bullets an hour which its promoters hope to sell to the United States government for something like $25,000,000.

The chief backer of the gun is Henry Clay Russell Wade, now serving a second term in Sing Sing for crookedness in connection with financial concerns. He was one of the backers of the Hanover Bank of Boston, which was closed by the authorities, leaving a trail of misery in its wake.

"I Know Little About It."

John Hays Hammond said over the long-distance telephone from his Summer home at Gloucester to-day that he knew Billy Rose, one of the backers of the gun, and had helped him, but didn't know that he had anything to do with the machine gun.

"In fact, I know very little about the gun," said Mr. Hammond, "and don't know that I have a dollar invested in it. My son is interested in some gun which he thinks may revolutionize warfare, and he may have let me in on it, but I don't know for certain that this is the one. The idea that I have talked about the gun to any Government officials is ridiculous, for I haven't mentioned it to any one. I never even saw the gun."

Would Sell to Government.

Letters written by Wade to aid in the sale of stock say that through the friendship of a certain man, Mr. Hammond by inference, with President Taft the promoters expect to sell the gun to the United States Government.

The letters do not name Mr. Hammond, but refer to him as a man "very wealthy, with very high standing, and closely associated with President Taft," and say that he has purchased all the treasury stock.

It was learned that Mr. Hammond and his son paid $40,000 in cash for all the $75,000 treasury stock and $25,000 more that Mr. Wade and one of his associates turned over. The other associate is Arthur M. Rose, formerly a Pittsburg promoter, who was let into the company because Rose said he was able to interest Mr. Hammond.

WIFE FAINTS AFTER GIVING FIRE ALARM

After giving the alarm of fire, when she was nearly overcome by the smoke she had inhaled, the plucky wife of Patrolman Malcolmn D. Blue of Station 1 fainted in the yard of her home at No. 20 Longfellow street, Dorchester, to-day. Mrs. Blue was ironing in the kitchen when the gas stove exploded. The flames spread rapidly. The blaze burned a hole up through the roof. Mrs. Blue was not seriously harmed by the smoke she inhaled.

RAIN AND SNOW CHECK FIRES IN NORTHWEST

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 25.—Rain and snow are checking the Northwest forest fires. Following the scattered rainfall of yesterday, to-day brought more cheering reports. It is believed that the worst is past, and yet before the fires now raging burn themselves out the property loss will be fully $50,000,000. Although the loss of life among the forest rangers will not be as great as was at first supposed, fresh reports received to-day indicate that the total death list will be above 200.

At Helena and at Butte, Mont., companies of the militia were to-day held under arms in readiness to be sent into the field against the fires at the order of Governor Norris.

The Thompson Falls fire and that along the Clark's Fork Valley to-day were the most serious, the worst of the others, the reports said, having been isolated. The chief danger at the present time is the springing up of a high wind.

The saving of the Gallatin reserve is attributed to the two-inch snowfall. This checked the progress of a wall of fire several miles long, which was sweeping toward Yellowstone Park. A downpour in the Flathead country materially improved the aspect of the fight there.

DRUGGIST IS HELD ON DEATH CHARGE

QUINCY, Aug. 25.—Paul K. Brown, proprietor of a drug store located at the corner of Billings road and Hancock street, Norfolk Downs, was charged with manslaughter in the District Court here to-day and held for the Superior Court in the sum of $500. Brown furnished bail and was released. It is charged that a mistake in filling out a prescription on May 16 caused the death of Ruth, the two months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Kelly of No. 53 Billings road. Medical Examiner Jones claims that the prescription contained boracic acid, instead of sugar of milk.

MOTOR CAR BREAKS THROUGH STONE WALL

MANCHESTER Aug. 25.—Mrs. J. J. Dean of Pigeon Cove, while driving her automobile attempted to turn out for another car on Main street and the car struck and demolished a lamp post. It then crossed the sidewalk and crashed into a stone wall three feet high and two feet thick, demolishing the wall and finally coming to a stop in a meadow.

The car was but slightly injured and none of its occupants was so much as bruised.

REPORT MORGAN IS TO GIVE STATE PARK

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 25.—A report reached here to-day that J. Pierpont Morgan has informed friends at Highland Falls that he proposes placing in charge of the Palisades Park Commission, for State park purposes, his magnificent properties known as Cragston, including the farms, home, docks and drives. It is one of the finest private grounds on the Hudson River and a complete private park in itself.

U. S. MAKES HALF MILLION ON SEALS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The Department of Commerce and Labor estimates the Government will profit $500,000 by its first year's sealing on the Pribyloff islands of Alaska. Commissioner George L. Bowers of the Fisheries Bureau has returned from Europe where he investigated the market for skins and has made a report to Assistant Secretary Cable.

SCARED OFF A BURGLAR.

LYNN, Aug. 25.—A burglar was scared away from the residence of Edmund Burke, at No. 106 Newhall street early to-day by Mrs. Mary Perkins, who lives next door. Mrs. Perkins saw a young man standing on top of a fence trying to raise a window which opened into the room of Miss Minnie Burke. Mrs. Perkins yelled for the police and the burglar disappeared.

M'NARY GOES WEST.

Ex-Congressman William S. McNary, is to-day on his way West to bring home his children, who have been at a Summer camp in Wisconsin. He will take a side trip to White Plains, N. Y., to visit his old comrades of the "Fighting Ninth" Mass. in camp, of which regiment he was formerly an officer.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight London Time

Funeral Services for the President of Chili.

BERLIN—The last honors were paid to-day to President Pedro Montt of Chili, who died in Bremen on August 16. The funeral services were held in the Catholic Church of St. Hedwig. Besides a personal representative of the Kaiser, there were present envoys of almost every country on the globe, including the American Ambassador, David J. Hill. At the requiem mass the Kaiser was represented by General Von Kessel. From Bremen a squadron of Chilian warships will take the body home.

Drexel to Fly in Ireland.

LONDON—Armstrong Drexel has accepted an engagement to give exhibition flights at Leopardstown, Ireland. Young Drexel's interest in aviation has heretofore been not altogether favorably regarded by his father, Anthony J. Drexel, but the son's success appears to have somewhat altered the father's views, for the car in which Armstrong Drexel will travel to Holyhead is loaned to him by his father.

Crippen Rigorously Guarded.

LONDON—A wireless dispatch from the steamship Megantic, sent from a point 500 miles east of Belle Isle, says in all probability the voyage from Quebec to Liverpool will be completed without any of the passengers seeing Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen or Miss Ethel LeNeve, who are rigorously guarded from observation.

Princess Clementine to Wed.

BRUSSELS—After six years' waiting the love story of Princess Clementine of Belgium and Prince Victor Napoleon is about to come to a happy climax, their marriage being now imminent. When King Leopold heard of his daughter's intention to marry the imperialist pretender to the throne of France he refused his consent.

$100,000,000 for South America.

LONDON—Powerful London financiers have formed a syndicate to exploit concessions in Argentina, Brazil and other South American States. They are prepared to invest $100,000,000 in this enterprise, which is partly aimed at giving British capital a dominating influence.

HARBOR PLAN IS OPPOSED AT HEARING

The hearing on the proposed changes in the Boston harbor line, whereby it is proposed to extend the water line at different points at an expenditure of millions of dollars by the Government, was held to-day in the Federal Building before a board from the United States Engineers Corps, composed of Lieutenant-Colonel Fred V. Abbott, chairman; Colonel William M. Black, and Colonel Solomon W. Roessler.

George G. Crocker, chairman of the Transit Commission, was the first speaker advocating the plan, and he said in substance that the proposed change would aid in the matter of transportation, and greater docking facilities would be afforded by the filling in of land. Also that these increased docking places would give Boston an advantage over New York, and shipping could be carried on at less expense. It was through the commission that legislation was obtained in the last session on this matter.

Melvin O. Adams, president of the "Narrow Gauge," appeared against the movement, on the ground that the change of harbor line may mean the necessity of relocating the tracks and terminal facilities of his company.

W. Rodman Peabody spoke in favor of the plan for the Chamber of Commerce.

Congressman Keliher said that he was opposed to the immediate beginning of the work, which should be delayed until the opinions of those directly concerned in it could be obtained. Chairman White of Harbor and Land Commission spoke in favor of the plan.

The board will send its opinion to the War Department, no decision being given out at present.

WHY BEEF IS SO HIGH—One who has made a close study of the question will tell the reason in the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

TAFT CHANGES HOUR FOR PLAYING GOLF

BEVERLY, Aug. 25.—President Taft to-day changed his hour for seeking the golf links, and for the first time in three days gave the afternoon over to going over the course at the Myopia Club, rather than indulging in morning play. The work of preparing his conservation congress address was responsible for his non-appearance at Myopia the first three days of the week. His opponent this afternoon was John Hays Hammond. Professor Louis T. More, brother of Mrs. Taft, is a guest of the President at Burgess Point.

ROOSEVELT AT BUFFALO SAYS: 'HOT FIGHT ON'

BUFFALO, Aug. 25.—"This is the nerviest breakfast party I ever saw."

Thus spoke Theodore Roosevelt as he stepped from his private car at 6:20 a. m. on his arrival at Utica. A lot of handshaking followed and then Colonel Roosevelt was escorted to an auto and whisked to the Ellicott Club where as the guest of that organization, he with about 300 other invited guests partook of breakfast. He made a brief address.

During the meal several guests slipped behind Mr. Roosevelt's chair and engaged him in conversation, among them Postmaster Fred G Reiner, Republican leader of Erie county.

Colonel Roosevelt said:

Keeping Lakes Pure.

"I have but a few minutes, and I'm going to plunge right into a subject of utmost interest to the citizens of Buffalo, the State of New York and the entire nation. That is the keeping of fresh water supply of the great lakes unpolluted. We claim to be a civilized people and we ought to be able to dispose of sewage except through our drinking water.

"Action by the State so far as its own boundaries are concerned and action by the nation because of other States interested should be taken to keep the waters of the great lakes as pure as possible. Uncle Sam has got to act, and he must have the co-operation of the citizens of the States."

When the newspaper correspondents who are with him asked him how the New York State situation was getting along he replied:

"Oh, it's all right. There's a good fight on and I like to fight. You know that."

When told that William Barnes, the Albany leader, was confident of beating him in the fight for temporary chairmanship of the State convention, Roosevelt said:

"Now Barnes was always quite frank in saying what he thought," was the ex-President's reply. "But when he speaks of fight I want to say that there will be plenty of it."

SIX MONTHS FOR 25-CENT PIN THEFT

Because he stole a scarf pin valued at 25 cents from the tie of Peter Frederick of Brockton in the South Station William Breen, twenty-five, was to-day sentenced to six months in the House of Correction by Judge Burke in the Municipal Court on a charge of larceny. Special Officer Moreke of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, testified that he saw Breen, who lives at No. 133 Third street, South Boston, snatch the pin from the tie.

BACKACHE Could Not Walk

Remarkable as the case of Fannie B. Henry seems, who could not walk across the floor on account of backache and headache because of kidney trouble, yet there are thousands of cures made by throughout the world, just as remarkable as this one.

Warner's Safe Cure

If you have backache, pains in the back of your neck or headache, or feel drowsy and heavy, your kidneys are affected and are evidently not able to carry off the refuse matter and do their work properly.

If you have any symptoms, lose no time in securing a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure. It will bring you relief.

"Before using Warner's Safe Cure I was down with backache and headache most of the time, and was hardly able to walk across the floor, but now I can do all my housework. I tell all my friends about the good Warner's Safe Cure did me. Before using your medicine I had given up all hope of ever getting well, but now I am a strong, healthy woman. Your medicine was a blessing to me." Fannie B. Henry, Adel, Ga.

Warner's Safe Cure is put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes and sold by druggists everywhere.

For constipation and biliousness take Warner's Safe Pills, purely vegetable, absolutely free from injurious substances, a perfect laxative. They do not gripe or leave any bad after effects. 25 cents a box.

To convince every sufferer from diseases of the kidneys and liver that WARNER'S SAFE CURE will absolutely cure, a sample bottle and a sample box of Warner's Safe Pills will be sent FREE OF CHARGE, postpaid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Rochester, N. Y., and mention having seen this liberal offer in the Boston American. The genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed by the publisher.

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB IS HERE FROM VIENNA

Boston to-day enjoyed a close view of ...nine Austrian college boys, velvet caps, ...wing ties, livid scars of rapiers and all the rest, for the glee club of the University of Vienna arrived on the Harvard from New York for a fourteen-hour visit in Boston.

But the college boys were not as young as one might expect, for in Austria many of the men lead a student life and spend the best part of their lives in the various universities. When the Harvard docked the visitors, who number 175, with a number of New York friends of the club, were met at the dock by a reception committee, consisting of Carl Schrader, Professor Paul Grossmann, C. M. Ackermann, William Albrecht, K. O. Bertling, Consul Donner, Ernst C. Fasch, P. Hoffmann, L. Kopczynski, C. Kaufmann, Herman C. Lagrese, E. F. Muehleder, J. Milch, C. Recknagel, A. Rehder, Consul Reincke, W. A. Rumpf, Dr. Stuart, F. Stoltmann, Professor John Walz, J. B. Walker, Anton von Werner, H. V. Wilczek, J. Zach, Mrs. E. C. Fasch, Mrs. Paul Hoffmann, Mrs. F. E. Muehleder, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. J. Milch, Mrs. C. Recknagel and Mrs. Stuart.

The party was under the leadership of Professor Franz Pawlikonski and was accompanied by Professor Heinrich Swoboda, head of the University of Vienna; Dr. Geisch, court attorney of the city of Vienna; Professor Raimund Halatschka and Count Von Egon Auersberg, a nephew of the famous German poet Auersberg.

At Harvard the visitors were shown about the grounds and were addressed by President Lowell. A luncheon in honor of the visitors was given by President Lowell, those present being Professor A. A. Howard, Professor J. H. Walz, President Swobodo, Professor Franz Pawlikonski, Secretary Warren for the corporation and Carl Schrader, chairman of the reception committee and instructor of gymnastics at Harvard.

HUSBAND OF $45,000 GEM LOSER HERE

Daniel Bacon of New York, from whose wife jewels valued at $45,000 were recently stolen while she was at St. Moritz, Switzerland, and which were recovered through clever detective work, was at the Hotel Somerset to-day, where he greeted Boston friends. He has been on an automobile trip through New England.

Mrs. Bacon is a younger sister of Lady Gilbert Parker, wife of the famous novelist. Her father was A. A. Vantine, who left a large fortune in New York real estate. She is a Colonial Dame and a Daughter of the Revolution. Mr. Bacon is a broker with offices at No. 66 Broadway, New York. He is a member of many New York clubs.

It was while Mrs. Bacon, who is touring Europe with her sister, Lady Gilbert Parker, was at St. Moritz last Thursday that the jewel robbery took place. The jewels were taken from Mrs. Bacon's room while she and her sister were at luncheon. The police were notified and the commissary at Vichy, France, gave the matter consideration.

He heard of a man named Cattaneo, a barber, who had made a wonderful journey, according to his friends, into Switzerland and back in one day. The commissary of police thought there must be something back of this and proceeded to put the man on the grill.

It took only a few minutes of the French third degree to get a confession from the man who led the police to the place where all of Mrs. Bacon's stolen jewelry had been hidden.

BURGLARS ESCAPE POLICE TWICE

The police of Malden and Melrose are searching both cities for two burglars who escaped from Patrolman Pierce of Melrose, who caught the men in the act of forcing the outer window of the Fells station of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Patrolman Pierce accosted the men while they were at work and, pulling his revolver, ordered them to halt. The officer gave chase, finally losing them in the woods near the station. About twenty minutes later Patrolman Craven of Malden met the men near the Oak Grove station, but they gave a fairly good account of themselves and were released.

GEN. COLLINS' NAME BARRED FROM BALLOT

NASHUA, N. H., Aug. 25.—General Charles S. Collins of this city cannot have his name on the ballot in the primaries next month as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the State Senate because he attempted to contest certain provisions of the new primary law by failing to file the $10 registration fee required by the statute. Chief Justice R. M. Wallace of the Superior Court, after a hearing here, dismissed General Collins' petition for a writ of mandamus to compel Secretary of State Edward N. Pearson to place Collins' name on the primary ballot.

$51,658 TO REPAIR FIRE REPAIR SHOW

It will cost the city of Boston $51,658.75 to repair the damage done to the repair shop of the fire department by the lumber wharf fire of two weeks ago, according to an estimate furnished Mayor Fitzgerald by Fire Commissioner Carroll to-day. An additional story for the structure which the fire commissioner believes should be added would cost $17,000. The Mayor will call a special meeting of the City Council next week at which a loan order calling for the amount estimated will be presented.

MACKEREL BRING RECORD PRICES

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 25.—A record price for mackerel was paid here when E. J. Burnham took the fare of the schooner Victor, forty barrels, at $42.50 per barrel. As there were but 65 fish in each of the barrels, on the average, this is conceded to be the record wholesale price. The fish were caught off Chatham, and Captain McFarland says he found them there in schools. He was handicapped by a torn seine or he would have brought at least as many more to port, he says.

ONLY THE SOBER MAY BE MARRIED HERE

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 25.—Persons desiring a license to marry must be sober to get it, because of the moral barrier raised by Registrar Charles S. Gall.

He always refuses to issue a license if the person shows the least sign of intoxication, suggesting that he come back the next day.

"Invariably they don't come back," he said, "and no doubt there are many young men and women who to-day thank me for not giving them a marriage license when they wanted it."

SHOT CRASHES INTO ROOM; IMPERILS FIVE

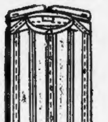

WAKEFIELD, Aug. 25.—Five persons were endangered when a bullet, supposedly fired by some one practicing at a target in the nearby woods, crashed through a dining room window in the home of Patrick Hurtin on Rockland street. The bullet grazed Hurtin's right hand as he was about to join his family at the table and barely missed the head of Miss Margaret Crowley, a guest at the house. It was imbedded in the wall. No trace of the person who fired the gun was found. An investigation is being made.

DEMOCRATS RUSH TO TAKE OUT PAPERS

Democrats took out their papers for the primaries of September 27 with a rush to-day. When the new headquarters of the city committee at No. 15 Exchange street opened at 10 o'clock, with President Joseph A. Maynard directing a force of active clerks, a score of candidates or their representatives were in line to receive papers. It was a good natured gathering that joked with one another on the prospects of the several candidates and delegations.

Congressman Andrew J. Peters, of the Eleventh district, through his secretary, R. E. Andrews, was the first to receive papers. Then came George Kenny of Ward 18, for papers for the Governor's council. One of the early ones to take out papers was Charles A. Chapman, better known as "Sandy" Chapman, the entertainer. "Sandy" wants to quit vaudeville for a seat in the Senate from the Second Suffolk district. This includes Wards 1, 2 and 3 of Cambridge and Wards 2, 3, 4 and 5 of Boston.

The rush for papers, which up to noon was continuous, forecasts the largest number of candidates that the Democrats of Boston have ever been called upon to pass at a primary election. For Congressman, member of the Governor's Council, senators and representatives the number will be unusually large.

Only one ward, Ward 20, promises to have a ticket in the field in opposition to the regular ticket of ward organizations for delegates to the Democratic State Convention. The Ward 20 papers were taken out early and a straight-out Vahey ticket will be presented. In all the other wards unpledged tickets for State convention delegates will be the rule.

Papers will be filed beginning at 7 o'clock Tuesday and closing at 11 o'clock Wednesday.

ALDRICH'S RUBBER PROFIT STRETCHED TO $400,000 A MONTH

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich is the real boss, it was admitted in Wall street, to-day, of the United States Rubber Company, the $120,000,000 "infant industry" to protect which he caused the tariff on rubber goods to be increased about 16 per cent.

This is a virtual confirmation of Senator Bristow's charges which President Taft forced Aldrich to answer.

Senator Aldrich is the controlling stockholder and virtual owner of the $40,000,000 Intercontinental Rubber Company, which produces more than 55 per cent. of the Mexican crude rubber known as guayule.

The entire production, practically, of this company is taken by the United States Rubber Company under special contract between the two concerns at a price said in the trade to be slightly above the prevailing market figure.

This agreement or contract was made soon after the failure of an attempt to force the United States Rubber Company to purchase at an exorbitant price the good will and property of the Intercontinental and subsequent to a threat by the latter that iet would enter the manufacturing end of the business itself.

Colt Is His Close Friend.

Samuel Pomeroy Colt, president of the United States Rubber Company, is the fellow townsman, business associate, political ally and close personal friend of Senator Aldrich.

The majority of the manufactured rubber goods affected by the increase in the tariff are goods such as rubber footwear, garden hose, etc., in the making of which guayule rubber enters extensively.

Since the passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, increasing the duty on manufactured rubber, the price of crude rubber has advanced enormously, although recently it has dropped back considerably.

The earnings of the Intercontinental Rubber Company since the passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law have been at the rate of $400,000 a month.

The advantage derived by the United States Rubber Company from the increase in the tariff is clearly demonstrated in the last report of the corporation for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1910. In presenting that report to the stockholders President Colt made the following remarks in a little brochure issued confidentially:

Tariff Boosts the Price.

The past year on the whole has been the most prosperous in the history of the company. The sales of merchandise by the United States Rubber Company and its subsidiary companies, as also by the Rubber Goods Manufacturing Company and the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited, were larger than in any previous year, and the net profits likewise were greater.

The sales of the company for the year were $38,711,051.43, as against $31,889,351.34 the previous year. Part of this increase, however, is accounted for by the higher selling prices which the company was compelled to establish owing to the higher cost of crude rubber and other materials.

Guayule rubber comes into the country free, so that Senator Aldrich, Thomas F. Ryan, John D. Rockefeller and the others who own the Intercontinental Rubber Company do not have to part with a fraction of the $400,000 a month earnings of that company to aid in defraying the expenses of the government of the country.

1,000,000 Pounds Per Month.

The Intercontinental Rubber Company, when it was formed, took over John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s company, which owned about 1,800,000 acres of land in Mexico on which the guayule rubber shrub grows wild.

By means of a patent process, in which Senator Aldrich, in his reply to the accusations brought against him by Senator Bristow, admitted he was deeply interested, the Intercontinental Company is enabled to bring into this port about 1,000,000 pounds of guayule rubber every month. This, the company asserts, constitutes about 55 per cent. of the total output of the Mexican fields.

Virtually all is taken by the United States Rubber Company under an agreement arrived at late in 1907, just after the failure of the attempt by Aldrich and his friends to force a merger of their company and the trust.

TWO ARE KILLED IN A STEAMER CRASH

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 25.—Two persons were drowned and five others narrowly escaped death early to-day when the Majestic, an excursion boat, plying between Newark and Coney Island, and carrying 400 passengers, cut in two in the dark a naphtha launch at the drawbridge of the Lehigh Valley railroad trestle at Newark bay.

SMALL BANKRUPTCY SCHEDULES FILED

Schedules in bankruptcy were filed with the clerk of the United States District Court to-day by the firm of J. G. Small Company, retail dealers in women's wearing apparel, with place of business at No. 525 Washington street. The schedule showed liabilities of $74,148.62 and assets of $54,500.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN SPENDS DAY HERE

J. Pierpont Morgan is spending the day in Boston. The financier arrived at Marblehead in his yacht Corsair early to-day and immediately came ashore, taking the first regular train to this city. Mr. Morgan visited two banking houses shortly after his arrival, but declined to say what business called him to the Hub.

INQUEST IN DEATHS ON FISHING BOAT

An inquest on the explosion in the boiler room of the fishing steamer Satellite, on August 4, which resulted in the death of two firemen and injuries to the water tender from which he later died, was held by Judge Ely in the Court House this afternoon. Inspector James Dennessey and the State Boiler Inspector appeared as witnesses, with Captain Sorenson of the craft. The firemen killed by the accident from a plug blowing out were Stephen Callahan and Robert Lang. Michael Bennett, a water tender, was so badly burned that he died some time later in the hospital.

WILL MARRY HIS SCHOOL SWEETHEART

LYNN, Aug. 25.—On September 14 George Albert Ames and Edith Goodwin, who lives with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Graffam, No. 17 Cowdrey avenue, will be married. Ten years ago Ames met Miss Goodwin in school. A quarrel followed, and they parted. Four years ago when the battleship Georgia went into commission Ames shipped as a fireman and only recently returned to his mother, Mrs. Susan Ames, at No. 103 Chestnut street. He soon met Miss Goodwin again, and the wedding was arranged.

A MANUFACTURING CITY.

Boston has long been noted as a commercial city, second only in importance to New York.

The manufacture of cotton and shoes has brought our commonwealth to the attention of the whole world. One thing, however, not fully realized is the enormous amount of capital invested in the manufacture of cigars. The average smoker, enjoying his fragrant Havana, does not stop to think that the leading brands of fine cigars are made right here in Boston.

The manufacture of cigars gives employment to a greater number of people than any other single enterprise. When you smoke Boston made cigars, you are booming home productions and home industry. ***

MAYOR INVITES LIPTON TO BIG AVIATION MEET

Mayor Fitzgerald to-day cabled to Sir Thomas Lipton saying: "Greatest Aero meet world has even seen. Boston, Sept. 3-13. Auspices of Harvard Aeronautical Society. Harvard society and City of Boston invite you to be guest."

The Mayor discussed the plans for the meet with the executive committe to-day, and was enthusiastic over the splendid preparations which have been made. He said:

"The management of the Harvard Aeronautical Society is to be congratulated upon the splendid work that it is doing. The people of Boston should be, and I think are grateful for the manner in which this meet is being handled. It will result in bringing thousands of people to this city, who have never visited it before. This in itself is a splendid help to the city because no one ever comes to Boston and spends any time here, but falls in love with the city and its suburbs and comes again.

"Flying in the air is bound to lead to extraordinary developments in the near future. The progressive communities of the world have taken hold of the subject, and Boston would be derelict in its duty to civilization if it did not keep step. I therefore commend the meet heartily, and ask the support of the merchants and business men of Boston to this enterprise."

POWDER EXPLOSION KILLS A WATCHMAN

With a detonation so heavy that windows were broken and houses shaken as far as twenty miles away, three of the powder mills of the American Powder Acton line, blew up, killing one man and injuring several others, though not fatally. The property loss is estimated at $20,000. The dead man is Charles Rogers of Maynard, a night watchman. The first crash, in the wheel mill, was followed at slight intervals by two more heavy explosions as the contents of two other mills standing near blew up.

HOKE SMITH HAS 2,500 PLURALITY

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 25.—Official returns from Tuesday's Democratic primaries, practically complete, give Hoke Smith for Governor about 2,500 popular majority, or forty-eight votes in the convention. The vote was as follows: Smith, 73,387; Brown, 71,688, from 118 counties out of 146. In the Eighth Congressional District S. J. Tribble appears to have defeated Congressman William Howard.

CAPTAIN MOODY FREE.

U. S. Commissioner Hayes to-day discharged Captain B. W. Moody, of the schooner Annie F. Conlan, accused of putting his cook, Whitfield Toppin, off the boat at a foreign port, on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

WHAT SCIENCE WILL TEACH FUTURE MAN

Science can and must in the future give to mankind a happy existence. When science will have secured to mankind a normal cycle of life, when the people will forget the majority of diseases, even as they need not worry now so much about the plague, cholera, diphtheria, rabies and other scourges that threatened them until recently, then the efforts of gratifying the higher requirements of a spiritual life will come to the front even more than now.

It is more than likely that science will teach us in the future to live in accordance with the principles of orthobiotics, the art of living, ethics applied to life, and will lead life to the moment of the approach of the instinct of natural death, when there will no longer be the fear of the inevitability of the end.

I can forsee the time when America will outshine Europe by her scientists.—Prof. Elie Metchnikoff.

PLANT'S LAWYER WANTS NO DELAY

"A proceeding unhead of in this court before," was the reply of Sherman Whipple, counsel for the Plant interests, to-day to a motion of counsel for the United Machinery Company, to strike from the files the plea of the Thomas G. Plant Company and Thomas G. Plant to a bill in equity of the plaintiff to require the defendants to comply to the terms of a contract relating tot he leasing of shoe machinery. The matter came before Judge Rugg of the Supreme Judicial Court to-day.

Mr. Whipple contended that but a single issue was involved and that was fully set out in the plea. The only question for the court to pass upon, he said, is the validity of the leases made by the plaintiff and whether if the United Shoe Machinery Company was allowed to continue it did not constitute a monopoly in violation of the provisions of the Sherman act. Mr. Whipple said it was common talk that by postponements in court the United Company intended to tire out Mr. Plant. Judge Rugg fixed September 2 for the hearing.

SUFFRAGETTES WILL QUIZ CANDIDATES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Determined to learn each friend and foe of the suffrage cause a vigorous campaign is being carried on by the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage Association by which each candidate for the House of Representatives and the Senate will be brought face to face with the question whether women should be allowed to vote. By means of newspaper publicity and campaign literature the voice of each congressional nominee on this question will be spread to 16,000,000 voters who in turn will be forced to face the question.

ACTIVITY IN DORCHESTER REAL ESTATE

There is much improvement in the realty market all long the line. Dorchester indicates renewed activity. Small properties have been sold in South Boston, East Boston, Winthrop and Revere. Back Bay continues to register a good many sales.

The four-story octagonal brick residence, 421 Beacon street, between Hereford and Gloucester streets, has been bought by Louise G. McMichael from Caroline M. Young. The lot containing 1,904 feet is valued at $10,000. The total valuation of this property is $18,000.

At the West End, No. 26 Garden street, between Phillips and Cambridge streets, a frame dwelling with 630 feet of land has been sold, Michael J. Donovan purchases from Martha E. Harris. It is a three-story brick house with a total valuation of $3,500, of which $1,300 is on the land.

Ida Cohen and others have sold to Domenico Peraglia and wife the four-story brick dwelling, No. 156 Salem street, between Sheafe and Prince streets. The property is vaued at $11,500 and $6,500 is upon the 1,365 feet of land.

The frame house, No. 46 Dix street, off Laffield street, Dorchester, has been sold by Ellen Hanlan to Robert Swanton and wife. The lot measures 5,130 feet of land, valued at $1,100. The whole is rated at $4,300.

Esther Cohen has transferred to Dora Blumenthal the frame house, No. 9 Fenton street, near Duncan street. It is assessed for $2,000 and the land at $400 for 3,2[illegible] feet.

The vacant land, No. 20 Edson street, near Dorchester avenue, has been purchased by Mary E. McCarthy and others from Francis C. Welch. The records give $1,100 upon 3,275 feet of land.

Benjamin E. Allen has sold to Francis Hastings the frame house, No. 300 Ashmont street, near Bruce street. The whole property is taxed for $5,000 and the 10,127 feet of land is rated at $3,000.

In Roxbury the double frame house, Nos. 7 and 8 Rockland place, off Rockland street, has been sold to S. A. Brokie by Francis Hastings. The total valuation is $9,900 and $1,900 is the value upon 5,442 feet of land.

WASHING THE HAIR

There Is a Right as Well as a Wrong Way to Do It

The important thing to observe in washing the hair is to avoid using a soap or shampoo containing an excess of alkali. You must have some knowledge of chemistry before you can tell the difference between good soap and harmful soap. The safest plan is to clean your hair and scalp with Birt's Head Wash, which is broadly guaranteed to be neutral and to have no free alkali in it. Moreover, it is mildly medicated with glycerin, salicylic acid, white of eggs and cocoanut oil. Every one of these things are helpful to the scalp and hair, and by using Birt's Head Wash frequently, the loss of hair is stopped, dandruff disappears and itching ceases. All dirt, dust and disease germs are cleared away, the pores leading to the hair roots are opened up, and renewed life and vigor is given to the hair. Try Birt's Head Wash and experience the supreme delight of a perfectly clean scalp, 25c and 50c at drug and dept. stores.

HEAD-ON CRASH WRECKS AUTOS

Several prominent Revere town officials narrowly escaped serious injury when an automobile owned and operated by Arthur Norris of No. 149 Boulevard, Revere, crashed into another machine owned by Max Martel of No. 123 Washington avenue, Chelsea, at midnight.

The cars collided at the junction of Washington avenue and Broadway. An outward bound Salem car blocked the street at Bellingham station, obstructing the view of Martel, who was driving down Washington avenue. Norris was bound for Revere on Broadway, and as Martel rounded the trolley car he crashed head-on into the Revere machine. Both autos were so badly damaged that they were towed to a garage for repairs.

In the Norris machine were ex-Selectman Richard D. Barry of Revere, Arthur R. Kendall, chief of the Revere fire department; Richard Deniel, secretary of the Revere Board of Health; Augustus Downey and Frank J. Holmes. In the car driven by Bartel was Paul R. Widder of Chelsea. Beyond a severe shakeup the occupants of the cars received no injury.

GOOD NEWS FOR BOY SCOUTS---FIRST CAMP BEGINS ON TUESDAY

Here is some news for the American Boy Scouts which will make them jump!

The first Scout camp to receive the official sanction of the New England headquarters has been planned to begin next Tuesday and will continue through the week.

It will be on Weymouth Heights, fourteen miles from Boston, and in a location superbly suited for Scout work.

The camp is to be under the supervision of a man who has conducted one several years. He is an experienced man and he is completing all arrangements.

The Scouts for this first camp will be limited to not more than thirty-three in number, or three patrols. Under a new regulation the patrols have been increased to ten boys and a patrol leader each, instead of nine boys and a patrol leader.

Preference will be given to the Scouts who have already secured their uniforms and those who at once make application for them. About fifty boys have already secured official outfits, and as many more have indicated their intention to do so at once.

Now, boys, if you want to go to this camp, which will be in charge of a former lieutenant in the United States Army, with perfect discipline, sanitation, the finest kind of good, healthy food, call at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning at the New England headquarters and full details will be given to you.

Food Charged at Cost.

The New England secretary declared yesterday that he wants every boy to understand at the outset, that there is nothing free to be had or savoring of charity in this first official outing or any other.

Every boy will have to pay his carfare both ways—about 20 cents for the round trip—and for his meals. The cost per day will be kept right down to the actual cost of the food supplied, and will be very low.

If you want to participate, you Scouts, in the first New England encampment of the American Boy Scouts with all the great fun that has been planned, get down to headquarters bright and early at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning and get your name on the list.

It was not intended to have an official encampment for at least a fortnight yet, but so many of the boys have pleaded that one be arranged that the New England secretary has agreed to it. It will probably be the only chance to get into a full week of camping before the school term begins.

Get aboard, Scouts! Get your lungs filled with good old Weymouth Heights ozone! Redden up your blood! Get back all ready for school with a will and snap that must bring you the prizes.

Register at the New England headquarters beginning at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. Every Scout must have the written consent of one parent. If he has neither parent living he must get the written consent of his guardian.

Do not forget this, Scouts: This is the first and only official American Boy Scout encampment. Any others purporting to have been held with the official sanction have not had it.

Indians May Furnish Music.

The camp will be visited from time to time by the departmental committee and prominent citizens who have expressed their sympathy for the American Boy Scout movement.

It is not unlikely that Scout Ernest A. Dobson, the Hyde Park Indian lad, the great grandson of Red Cloud, a famous Cherokee chief, will be able to bring his band of twenty pieces out to the camp and give the boys some fine music.

A few of the American Boy Scouts went on their own accord to Needham Monday and pitched their tent in the woods there. Major P. J. Anderson of East Boston was sent out Tuesday to make an official inspection for New England headquarters. At the request of the New England headquarters the boys good-naturedly agreed to await the official outing and broke camp.

There is just a possibility that a second camp of a like number of Scouts will be held next week if the number of Scouts making application warrant it.

All these Scouts will be given an opportunity to get out to the Weymouth Heights camp if they report early to-morrow morning at the New England headquarters.

It is not intended to attempt a heavy program of Scout work, but enough can be accomplished under proper guidance to establish the wonderful possibilities of the Scout idea.

Get your uniforms, lads, then, without delay. To do so you must get a written order from the secretary, New England headquarters, American Boy Scout, No. 5 Bromfield street, Boston, Mass.

Be a Scout. Get ready for the first official camp!

BOSTON DELEGATES TO ENCAMPMENT OF SPANISH WAR VETS

MARGARET DE WITT

DR LAURA A.G HUGHES

COL. EDWARD J. GIHON

SPANISH WAR VETERANS OFF FOR DENVER

The Bay State delegation to the annual encampment of United Spanish War Veterans, which opens Monday at Denver, leaves Boston to-day, headed by Commander-in-Chief Edward J. Gihon of Wakefield, who will be presiding officer.

The encampment opens Monday at 8 a. m. Later the delegates will take part in a parade. At 3 there will be a public reception at the Auditorium.

Following the reception there will be a banquet, and in the evening the parade of the serpent will take place, followed by the conferring of the degree of Katipunan on all candidates.

The Massachusetts delegation will be one of the largest at the encampment. Commander-in-Chief Gihon's staff comprises Henry A. Treuthardt adjutant general, Stephen E. Ryder quartermaster general, Charles W. Parker assistant adjutant general and George H. Russell assistant quartermaster general.

Co. F, Sixth Massachusetts regiment, will visit the encampment and be Colonel Gihon's escort in the parade.

The auxiliary to the U. S. W. V. will also hold its convention in Denver, with headquarters at the Savoy hotel.

The fifth annual convocation of the Military Order of the Serpent will be held in the Auditorium, and Supreme Gu Gu Napoleon L. White will be established in the Albany. Commander Gihon and staff will be quartered at the Brown Palace hotel.

UNIFORM LAW IN ALL STATES FOR AUTO MEN

By J. C. KERRISON.

The reciprocity clause which is now found in the automobile laws of several States emphasizes more emphatically than any other thing the great necessity and advisability of a federal motor law, such as has been proposed in the past by the American Automobile Association.

The enforcement of these laws has entailed no small amount of annoyance and expense to the touring motorists, which would all be done away with if a general law covering the country at large, as has been suggested, were enacted.

New Jersey was the first State to enforce the law on non-residents, and Massachusetts retaliated as did Pennsylvania, New York and Rhode Island. So that to-day, one touring through several States must, if he desires to escape legal entanglements, carry with him the condensed motor laws of the States through which he intends to tour.

President Louis R. Speare of the American Automobile Association in commenting upon this condition of affairs said, "The reciprocity clause is the very best argument that we possibly could have in favor of our federal law bill.

"It has done more to advance the interests of that measure than could no end of talking before the proper authorities. I am convinced that during the coming session of the legislature, likewise of Congress, an energetic, consistent effort will be made to bring about the enactment of a bill that will permit a car to pass from one State to another, so long as it bears the proper registration tag."

The opinion recently handed down by Attorney General O'Malley of New York State is most interesting. It is to the effect that automobiles licensed in States which fail to recognize the New York State tag at all times cannot operate in that State without the payment of the full State tax.

Even if the foreign State recognizes the State license for a limited number of days its residents cannot use the New York State roads free of charge.

The Callan automobile law which recently took effect provides for the free admission into New York State of automobiles licensed in States which permit the free and unrestricted use of its highways at all times by residents of this Satte.

Automobiles licensed in the following States can be operated in New York free: Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Nebraska, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wisconsin.

An important change has been made in the Lozier agency in this city. The firm of H. C. & C. D. Castle has been merged into the Lozier Sales Company of Boston, which will handle Lozier cars in the Eastern half of Massachusetts.

H. C. Castle, of the old firm, is President of the new Lozier Sales Company. Mr. Prescott is Vice-President, and E. H. Ellison, a prominent manufacturer of Boston, is another member of the new concern.

WALKING BEATS NOT GOOD FOR ATHLETES

Athletes must eat. Their fare may be rugged and simple, but they cannot subsist on the plaudits of the multitude alone, and since amateur athletes are barred for accepting any remuneration for their exhibitions the problem of supporting the stars of the Irish-American Athletic Club in New York was a ponderous one until someone hit upon the idea of getting jobs on the police force for the brawny performers on track and field. Not hard jobs, of course. No standing on the hot asphalt all day, waving one arm at the drivers of brewery wagons and leading old ladies across Broadway, but jobs where an industrious weight-thrower or high jumper might supplement his training with remunerative repose.

So it was that John J. Flanagan, tosser of the hammer, M. J. McGrath, heaver of the weight, and Martin Sheridan, who excels in everything requiring extraordinary strength, were in snug berths a few months ago, the extent of their toil consisting in serving a subpena once every two weeks or telling strangers the way to the Mayor's office. They had plenty of time off for training and their pay was sufficient to keep them in beefsteak and whole-wheat bread. It was an ideal way of preserving for the Irish-Americans their most dependable record getters.

Victims of Economy.

Then came Mayor Gaynor and woe. The Mayor has no prejudice against athletes. "Big Bill" Edwards, street commissioner, and the man who slammed Gallagher about so vigorously that dramatic day on the steamer's deck, is a football hero, and other city office holders are famed for deeds of muscle. And yet, as the Mayor glanced over this department and that in his campaign of economy, he saw some particularly large and healthy looking policemen in positions where it did not seem to him they had a fitting opportunity to distinguish themselves. He figured that Martin Sheridan would make a splendid picture stopping a runaway; that Mike McGrath would be as good as a cavalry detachment in squelching a riot and that Jack Flanagan would be able to tame a Mott street tong battle by rough-and-tumble tactics, if required. So he brought to these three the glad news that they were to be real, live policemen, out on beats like the rest.

Chance for Promotion.

"Of course," said the Mayor, "the boys will not get quite so much pay as on inside assignments, but then, the chances for distinction and promotion are so much greater."

The Irish-American huskies thought the matter over about thirty seconds. If one had to work, walking up and down on a hard sidewalk in the blazing sun would not be the occupation one would choose. They quit, in a body, letting the remainder of the police force get along as best it could without their aid. Then it was given out that one by one, they had "received flattering offers from western concerns" and now the three are no longer available timber for Irish-American track teams.

WORLD'S SERIES TO BE BATTLE OF PITCHERS

Long before the teams of the American and National Leagues pass under the wire at the close of the baseball season of 1910, the champions in the two leagues probably will have been decided.

There is little variety of opinion now as to the outcome. The question no longer is, "Which team will conquer in the American and which team in the National," but it is, "Will the Athletics succeed in wrestling the world's championship from the National League when they meet the Cubs in October?

Wonderful club though the Cubs are, they seem destined to meet a foe in October, the like of which has not tackled the National League champions since the start of the clashes between the two leagues.

Arrayed against Frank Chance's acknowledged wonders will be the greatest set of slabmen that ever adorned the payroll of any American League club, in Bender, Coombs, Plank and Morgan.

Opposed to these men will be Leonard Cole, the wonder of the season of 1910; Mordecai Brown, the hero of many hard seasons, and two world's series; Ed Reulbach, the acknowledged holder of a place among the really great pitchers of the past five seasons, and a few other satellites scarcely less notable in the baseball world.

It will be a case of Greek meet Greek. And what's more, every American League enthusiast may look forward to the great series, not with the fear of defeat for their representatives as in the last two years, but with the knowledge that the fight will be waged by the Athletics to the very end, and that they will be capable of doing justice both to themselves and to the league.

NAVY FOOTBALL MEN IN EARLY TRAINING

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 25.—Twenty-nine members of the Naval Academy football squad are here and will begin their leave at once, in order to return to the academy a week before the opening of the institution. The midshipmen took the cruise to European waters and will leave the fleet at Solomons Island. They will report to the Naval Academy on September 22, and the first game will be on October 1, the midshipmen's opponents being St. John's.

The members of the squad are King, Erwin, Loftin, Carey, Douglas, McCaughey, Merring, Scott, Wright, Zenor, Abbott, Dalton, Culin, Edgar, Elmer, Hall, Hunter, Shaw, Sowell, Wakeman, Weems, Whiting, Austin, Cochran, Fenn, Miller, Reisinger, Rodes, Vanderloot.

BIG LEAGUES MAY RESERVE 40 MEN

DETROIT, Aug. 25.—By mail vote the rule permitting only thirty-five men to be reserved by major league ball clubs has been changed to allow forty players, it was announced to-day. The thirty-five-man rule was passed last Winter and was found too small when the clubs commenced to recruit. Half the teams in the American League are within a man or two of the new limit now.

HONEY MELLODY FIGHTS LEMOINE

There promises to be gay doings up in Webster next Wednesday night, when two such celebrated mitt artists as Honey Mellody, former weight weight champion, and Maurice Lemoine, the "fighting Frenchmen," mix it up in a twelve-round bout at the Lakeside A. C. With two such sluggers hitting it up there promises to be a fight which is worth going a few miles to see.

Lemoine is but twenty-four years old, and is expected by fight fans to develop into one of the best middle weights in this section with a little more experience. In Mellody he will meet a veteran at the fight game and a man who will tax all his powers if he is to be returned the winner.

To date Lemoine has won the decision over such celebrated mitt artists as Jack Ryan, Paddy Sullivan, Patsy Sweeney and a host of other contenders for pugilistic honors.

If Lemoine is successful in his mill with Mellody he will be booked up with Terry Martin before the Fairview A. C. of Southbridge on September 20.

RED SOX OPEN 3-DAYS' SERIES WITH THE 'NAPS'

BATTING ORDER.

CLEVELAND.	BOSTON.

It's a different foe the Red Sox will have to contend with this afternoon. The Cleveland Naps are here, headed by Manager Jim McGuire, the old Boston director who has had his troubles this season. The Forest City team will endeavor to make good for numerous past defeats at the hands of the Red Sox in the three days they tarry at the Back Bay Park.

After three hard bumps over in Philadelphia, the Naps are not feeling any too pleasant, as they are now only holding their place at the top of the second division clubs. The result of the games here may send them down a notch before they get back to the home field.

The record-breaking crowds the Naps drew to the field on their last trip were not likely to be duplicated, as their class has been established and they were found to be easy picking for the Red Sox, and everybody looks to see the red stocking crowd give them the same kind of treatment that was handed to the Browns.

Of the fifteen games played between the two clubs the Red Sox have won ten, while the Naps have drawn five victories, so the home talent should rate about two to one favorite.

Outside of the win expected there are other features on the card to-day. The appearance of Lajoie, the peerless second sacker and premier slugger, who is making Ty Cobb hustle to win that auto car, makes him an attraction that causes the fans to gather to watch his skill.

Then old Cy Young is on deck. He may be given a chance to twirl this trip as he was not quite right on his last visit and McGuire refused to let the old warhorse get any bumpings from his former teammates.

As Manager Donovan has used up his southpaw material pretty hard he is forced to pick his right arm slingers to face the Naps, so it's either Hall or Smith to get the call to-day.

The Doves after giving the Cubs some hard rubs have jumped to St. Louis, where they will be better prepared to put over a few wins which have been rather scarce since the team started West.

Before and After the Game

Well, everybody had something good to say for Hunt after the game. Before the game the elongated Californian was an unknown quantity, but it didn't take the fans long to find out that he has the goods. Those seven strikeouts looked mighty good to the boys who have been watching the last few games, and the scarcity of hits made every one sit up and take notice. Benjamin had an eye on the game all the time, and, except on one occasion when he let in Killifer on a wild throw, his work was a good exhibition of perfect control. There was one thing that the fans were looking for, however, and that was a hit. Every time he went to bat he drew a great hand, but it was not until the eighth inning that they got what they wanted. Whatever passes the new man issued did not affect the score in any way, and not a ball went out on the diamond until the fourth inning. Those who were watching and waiting for the Westerner to go up in the air were disappointed, because he staid right with the game every minute, and was in at the finish.

Hunt seemed to have the longest reach of any man on the diamond. In the fifth inning he picked an almost impossible bounder from the air, hot off the bat of Pitcher Hall, and retired that gentleman at first with all the grace of a gazelle. And in doing so he stretched his arms halfway across the diamond to the joy of the crowd, who expected to see the ball go to Wagner. A conservative estimate of the length of his arm would be about eight feet.

Three men tried—and failed—to get Jake Stahl's triple to right garden. Truesdale, Newnam and Schweitzer were among those present in the vicinity, but none of them succeeded in getting under it, the ball landing untouched while Jake was beating it for third. But with Lewis out and the Browns pulling off a pretty double play on Carrigan and Engle, the hit went for nothing. Jake made his third hit of the game in the next inning, driving Purtell home for the last tally of the day.

Griggs made up for striking out in the first inning by getting back at Hunt with a home run in the sixth. And, at that, the ball just barely topped the fence in front of third base bleachers, landing in the first row of the empty seats. Had it gone two feet inside, Mr. Griggs would have had to be satisfied with two bases.

* * *

Hunt had a funny little stunt that he performed just before any big play was to be pulled off. Just before delivering the ball he would trot around the slab as if to inspect the bases, and then, when satisfied with his investigation, fire ahead. Before the end of the game he had a little circular rut worn around the box.

* * *

Jack O'Connor was not so fortunate in his new pitcher. That is, provided yesterday's contest shows what Hall's ability amounts to. He was up against a rather tough proposition at that, with the batting the Red Sox are doing lately. Still he passed eight men, and this counted when the final score was figured up. Hall comes from Missouri, and went into the game because of O'Connor's lack of pitchers. It had been expected that Ray would be in shape to play, but he is still on the hospital list and won't be able to work for a few days yet.

ATHLETICS PILE UP A RUN RECORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The baseball statisticians here have prepared tables showing that the Philadelphia Americans, besides leading for the pennant by a good margin, have more runs to their credit for the season than any other club in the two big leagues. Last week the Athletics scored forty-six runs in seven games, a greater total than any other club. The records are as follows:

American League.		National League.
Philadelphia	548	Pittsburg	462
Detroit	493	New York	460
Boston	485	Chicago	456
New York	464	Philadelphia	432

HARTFORD MANAGER OFF FOR SEASON

BRISTOL, Ct., August 25.—President Tracy of the Connecticut League has suspended Manager Thomas J. Connery of the Hartford team for the remainder of the season. President Tracy gives as his reason that this afternoon during the second game between Hartford and New Britain at the latter city, Connery ran out into the field, in citizen's clothes, in violation of the league rules, to dispute a decision with the umpire, and further that Connery used abusive language to the umpire and by his action tended to incite riot.

BAY VIEWS WANT GAME.

Owing to a cancellation, the Bay Views of South Boston are without a game for Labor Day, and challenge any strong semi-pro team in New England, and are willing to play a double header. Address J. J. Logan, No. 27 Swallow street, South Boston. Telephone 467-4.

LANGFORD TO MEET BURNS FOR 20 ROUNDS

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 25.—Hugh McIntosh, the Australian prize-fighter promoter, held a conference here with Tommy Burns, regarding the proposed bout between Burns and Sam Langford. McIntosh will return from Vancouver and complete his arrangements with Burns.

"I have virtually closed arrangements for a twenty-round bout between Tommy Burns and Sam Langford for London, next December," said McIntosh. "I want also to bring Burns and Johnson together again. Johnson promised Burns and myself at Reno that he would give Tommy another chance. He says now that he wants to rest awhile, but we do not want him to take a long vacation, for interest in him will die out. He has promised to give Tommy first chance."

SPANISH SONDERS HERE.

The Spanish sonder boats Chonta, Papoose and Mosquito II., that participated in the International races off Marblehead, are expected to reach Boston in tow from that port to-day. The little craft will be sent to New York, whence they will be transferred to a freighter, for Cadiz. The skippers and crews of the invading boats will make a brief tour of the great lakes.

$365 PIANO FREE

GREAT PUZZLE CONTEST

How Many Windows in This Factory?

PUT THE FACTORY TOGETHER AND COUNT THE WINDOWS

1st PRIZE
$365 HALLET & DAVIS PIANO FREE

2nd PRIZE
$25 IN GOLD AND $125 CREDIT CERTIFICATE

3rd PRIZE
$100 CREDIT CERTIFICATE

MANY OTHER VALUABLE PRIZES FREE

You have the same opportunity as anyone else to win. Be sure and try. Open to all

All you have to do is put the pieces together to form our new factory and count the windows shown in the drawing. Read simple conditions. Most interesting, and at the same time, the most valuable prize contest ever known. No catch; the windows are plainly shown. Railroad track and grass are in front of building. Section with flag is tower, and is a little higher than the rest of the building.

We want everyone to know that we are building several new factories at Neponset, Mass. Our enormous business has outgrown our big factory buildings in South Boston. The drawing above, when put together properly, will show the first of our great buildings. We want you to realize that we make thousands and thousands of pianos every year, and that these new factories will be among the finest, if not the finest, in the world. We run this great contest to advertise these facts, so that people will remember who to buy a piano. By giving away the piano and other valuable prizes free, we can obtain better results than if we spent this amount of money in any other way. Cut out the pieces and put together, and then count the windows. There are more windows in the factory, of course, but all we want you to count are those shown here. This contest is run for piano buyers. The most artistic correct answer will be awarded first prize, the next second prize, etc.

PICKS TIGERS TO BEAT RED SOX FOR 2D PLACE

The St. Louis Browns left town in a rather sad frame of mind last night at 8 o'clock, but before they went Jack O'Connor had a word to say about who is who in the American league and also why.

"Of course, there is no doubt in any one's mind that the Athletics are going to get that pennant," said the manager. "Anybody who doesn't think so ought to have his head examined. They can't possibly lose out now, even if they play poor ball, which by the way they won't do. They've got the goods, and they're proving it every day. Nothing can touch them when it comes to playing consistent baseball.

"As for second place, why that's a tough question to decide. Boston looks good, but so does Detroit, and let me tell you the Tigers are going right after that position, and they won't let up until the end of the season.

"Then, too, they've got a corking home series ahead of them, which helps a lot. Some teams can't win when they are away from home. I don't consider the Tigers in that class, however. They play well at home or abroad.

"That is the team that the Red Sox have got to watch. Taylor's men will play some great ball if you see them in second place when the season is over. If Boston played more consistently I should say that the honor of being second to the Athletics would come here, but with all things taken into consideration, I believe that Detroit has everything in her favor.

"I haven't considered New York much in figuring out that second place, and at the same time I suppose the Highlanders have a chance left. Where New York is fortunate is in having a corking good string of pitchers, a staff that has stood the strain throughout the entire season.

"Boston needs pitchers. The whole trouble with our team in this series has been a lack of slab artists. Ray is sick, and may not be any good to me the rest of the season. My pitching staff is all tied up, and has shown it this week. This new man, Hall, tried out to-day, came from Missouri, and I am forced to use him for lack of others.

"The Red Sox are all right when it comes to batting. Take it from me, they've shown it against us. You don't need to worry on that score the least bit. If the players keep up the slugging match they've started, they can beat anything they run across. The question is, will they do it away from home?"

Mr. O'Connor didn't care to discuss the Lord deal, saying that he hadn't watched the men closely enough to form any opinion. At present, he thought it looked about like an even thing.

HORSE NOTES and SPEEDWAY

Senator Hale's clever mile in 2:09¾ at Readville greatly enthused the railbirds. The five-year-old son of Bingen and Dolly Bidwell should give royal battle to the 2:12 Grand Circuit trotters at our meeting next week.

* * *

The Harvester's mile in 2:03, over at the Empire track, was really a wonderful performance. Everyone knows how the sharp hoofs of the running horses tear up the turf, and the track at Yonkers has been cuppy and tiring all this week, by reason of its previous occupancy by the runners.

* * *

Jimmy O'Donnell drives Belvasia (2:17¼), in the 2:20 trotting stake at Morrisville, Vt., to-day. The race should be rather easy picking for Banner Wilkes, Betty Bingen, Royal Trust, Mary B. and Baron Wedgewood are all the mare has to beat.

* * *

Justin Edwards will direct the racing this year at Sam Hastings' annual Framingham fair, and carded for September 20 and 21. The classes are a 2:30 trot and pace, $150; 2:22 trot and pace, $200; 2:16 trot and pace, $200; trot and pace for New England matinee horses, $50, no entrance fee. An attractive list of running and hurdle races is also announced. Entries close with Mr. Edwards, No. 161 High street, room 10, Boston, September 15.

* * *

J. J. Bowen, the grand old veteran of the sulky, has arrived for the Readville races. "Jock" raced horses upon the present site of the Boston City Hospital at the opening of the track there in 1855. He is among the last of the old guard, John Turner, Budd Doble and Jack Trout alone remaining.

* * *

There is nothing new in the proposed race between the crack matinee trotters of Greater Boston at Readville. Steps should be taken to bring them together.

* * *

George W. Fair announces an attractive list of trotting and running races for Sunnyside Park, Natick, Labor Day. The program will have many novel features and it will be the banner day of the year at the Natick track.

* * *

Well, well, well! What do you know about this? The presiding judge of the Grand Circuit shorn of his title and relegated to the position of announcer for the New York meeting. And great has been the joy of the big line followers.

CARL ADAMS AT THE BEACHES—Don't miss this feature of the SUNDAY AMERICAN. Nothing so intimate and personal ever before offered the readers of New England.

FINAL PAYMENT AT READVILLE

Readville race track is fast taking on its best bib and tucker for the coming of the Grand Circuit trotters and pacers. The clubhouse has been painted and renovated, the lawns put in fine condition, the track carefully prepared, the infield rails touched up, and the greensward trimmed about the course.

With the final elimination of the stake candidates, the fields that will take the word for the rich prizes next week can now be well outlined.

The starters in the American Derby, trotting division, will be Sonoma Girl, Bob Douglass, Teasel, Prince Alexis, Allen Winter, Dora, Olga W., Major Wellington, Jim Ferry, E. D. M., Husky Harry, Kaldar, Romeo, Oxford Boy, Jr., Prince Henry Westland, Jennie Constantine, Baron Dell, Lazarus, Alice Roosevelt, Bervaldo and Lella Morse.

Commodore Bingen, 2:17¾, the clever little stallion by Bingen, owned by C. S. Spencer of Newton, will be unable to start by reason of lameness, and The Princess by Ormonde has also been drawn.

Of the original nominations, payments have been passed up on Baron Leland, Billy F., Lecco Maid, Myrtle Warren, Telemachus and Tempus Fugit, none of whom will be greatly missed.

The field in the American Derby, pacing division, will include Allen Wilson, Dillon Queen, Thoughtful, Chief Wilkie, Northern Spy, Bell Vara Boy, Little Helen, We Lead King's Hair, Lula Hunt, Louise Bashford, Onward March, King Cole, Fanny Stanton, Vunderbar, Hallie Direct.

Of the original nominations, payments were passed up on Deceiver, The Prince, Mackey Boy, Ruth B., Baroness Evelyn, Lady of Honor, Lafe Wonder, Annabelle Lee, Maxie Direct, and Brenda Yorke.

The field in the $10,000 Massachusetts Stake for the 2:14 trotters, will include Willy, Billy Burke, Creighton, Camera, Bisa, Hallworthy, Baron Penn, Dudie Archdale, Lady Vincent, Captain George and Sable Maid.

Of the original nominations, payments have been passed up on Albia, Sorrento Todd, Oakland Flobar, O'Neil, Linemarch, Alfonso, Thistle Donne, Parthenia, Adele Margrave, Don Labor, Lilly W., and The Wolverine.

In the Bunker Hill Stake for 2:05 pacers, the names of the celebrated Ross K., Ess H. Kay and Walter Hall, have been added to the list and the field will also include Jerry B., Star Patchen, Blacklock, Jenny W., Baron Whips, Ella Ambulator and Walter W. Here should be one of the great pacing races of the year.

For the Norfolk Stake for 2:14 pacers, the field will number The Abbe, Direct Hall, Jr., Evelyn W., Branham Baughman, Ernest and Sara Ann Patch.

Of the original nominations, payments have been passed up on Dessie Patchen, Lakeside Hal, Andy N. J., Lady of Honor, Clover Patch, C. the Limit, Hal Aiken and Maxie Direct.

BOXING NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Young Willus Britt writes that he has started opening his stable for the Winter and that he has a bread winner in Joe (Kid) Allen. Britt figures that Allen will be able to fight his way to the top of the bantam class in the East, and he is looking for matches right now.

* * *

Lew Raymond threatens to put the fighting game in this country on the blink. Says he has received a cable offer from England to take his many fighters across the pond and that he will accept the terms unless the matchmakers on this side come through with a bid for his men. Raymond manages a couple of stars—no one knows them yet—so if the big trip is taken there will be none here to fight.

* * *

The National Athletic Club of this city will open September 10. Pal Moore, the great local scrapper, and Tommy Murphy, the New York scrapper, will be the attraction in the opening show.

* * *

Sailor Burke has hoisted his sails and is not going to lower them until he has landed at Port Ketchel. He writes from Stratford that he is not going to fight any more heavyweights, but will force his opponents to make 158 pounds in the future.

* * *

"I know I am Ketchel's master at the middleweight limit," writes Burke, "and if given the opportunity will bring the championship back to dear old Brooklyn, where it belongs since the days of old Jack Dempsey."

HERMANN KILLS ALL-STAR TEAMS

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 25.—The National Baseball Commission has given what is considered a quietus to the plans of Tex Rickard, the mining man who promoted the Jeffries-Johnson fight, for a tour of the country after the regular season by an "All-Star" team of leading baseball players. This has been made clear by President Garry Herrmann of the commission.

"No fight promoter should be allowed to have any such close connection with baseball," said Herrmann to-day. "No such plan as this proposed by Rickard will be countenanced. If Rickard is back of the plan it will be best to foreclose the contracts and to tell the players they cannot go."

Herrmann called D. A. Fletcher, the Cincinnati promoter, into conference to discuss the subject.

MARATHON RUNNERS FROM MANY COUNTRIES

With seven countries represented in the international Marathon race to be held at Canobie Lake park tomorrow evening some exciting racing is anticipated and that the outcome is causing a good deal of discussion is evidenced from the fact that a special train load of Boston followers of the game will journey to the park to witness the race.

The race will be one of the most characteristically international affairs that have ever been held in this country for among the competitors will be numbered natives of England, Ireland, Sweden, Italy, Canada, the United States and the land of Arcadia.

The entrants for the run of twenty-six miles, 385 yards, will be: Pat Dineen and Matt Maloney of Ireland, John Svanberg of Sweden, Umberto Blasi and Frank Panzeri of Italy, Harry Prime of England, Bill Prouty and Al Raines of Canada, Bill Davis, a full-blooded Indian, Ernest Berrie of Arcadia and John Lordan and Ted Crooks of the United States.

COLLINS, HEHIR AND WILEY IN BIKE RACE

There is bound to be something doing at the Revere Cycle Track, Saturday evening, when Paddy Hehir, Elmer Collins and George Wiley come together for a thirty-mile race behind the motors. Hehir takes the place of Moran, who was hurt in Providence last week. The Australian is bound to make things interesting for both Collins and Wiley, as the exhibition he gave behind the motors at the Beach track last week, stamps him as a comer.

Charlie Turville, Jimmy Hunter and Carl Rudin, the pacemakers, will settle their little argument as to which of them has the best motor in a special five-mile race. This is the first race of this sort that has taken place at the Beach this season and there is bound to be some fast time made before the final mile is finished.

JOHN ENNIS BEATS WESTON'S RECORD

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 25.—John Ennis, the septuagenarian pedestrian, completed his trip from New York to San Francisco last night, breaking the record of Edward Payson Weston by twenty-five days.

On his arrival here Ennis tramped from the ferry building to the Cliff House on the beach, where he took a plunge in the breakers. He declares he never felt better in his life. He will remain here three weeks before returning to New York.

MUNSEY AUTO TOUR STARTS NINTH DAY

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 25.—With their start from here this morning the contestants in the Munsey automobile run began their ninth day's journey. From Binghamton, N. Y., where the run last night ended, to this city is 98 miles, which by reason of the bad condition of the roads will be traveled on a different time schedule. But one stop will be made to-day, that a neutral one to take on gasoline at Tunkhannock, Pa. Fifteen of the cars are still in the perfect class.

TO MEET HACKENSCHMIDT.

The first wrestling match of the season will take place at the Columbia Theatre to-night between Billy Evans and Chas. Hackenschmidt. Evans is a Southerner and is known as the champion light-heavyweight of the South. He has never been seen in action here and is the first of the newcomers Manager Farren will bring to Boston.

STRAIGHT TIPS FOR SPORT FANS

AM LOOKING FOR A MAN WITH 24-karat eyesight, who can catch a glimpse of that fortune Magnate Harris was going to spend to get the Doves out of the bush league class. Notice all the real big leaguers are grabbing everything in sight and the Doves haven't got a look-in at any of the young stars yet. Wonder if Harris is going to get his cracker-jacks from Europe. Or maybe somebody slipped him inside info' that they're going to give a pennant for the tailenders next year. I'm going to hand Old Doctor Harris a tip myself. It's this: None of us will fall again next year for that "boost the Doves" bunk. We're all in bad now, with the lads who buy the papers for what we did this year and last. Believe me, if the Doves play to empty stands next year, they'll get no sympathy in these parts. If they don't show major league class from April to October, may heaven have mercy on their souls.

AND WHILE WE'RE TALKING ABOUT the Doves, I wonder who is the bonehead who frames up their batting order. Down in the midddle comes Miller, who hits 'em once in awhile, and at the tailend are Beck and Graham, the only men on the team who show big league batting class. Why not line 'em up this way. Herzog, 3b; Miller, rf; Beck, cf; Graham, c; Collins, lf; Shean, 2b; Sweeney, ss; Sharpe, 1b; pitcher ?. Something like that might help now and then.

Straight Tips:—A bets Honey Mellody is a colored fighter. B bets he is a white fighter. Brockton. MAC.

B wins.

Straight Tips: Last Monday the game at Baltimore was Rochester 7, Baltimore 4 in the seventh when the umpire forfeited the game to Rochester, 9 to 0. Which is the right score to count in a pool, 7 to 4 or 9 to 0? Did John Svanberg run in a fifteen-mile race last Saturday? If so, how did he finish and what was the time? Crompton, R. I. S. M. I.

Have to abide by the umpire's ruling in all pools. Svanberg won the fifteen-mile race with a team-mate, Queal. The time was 1 hour 34 minutes 3-5 seconds.

Straight Tips:—Kindly advise why it is necessary to have a bride's maid and best man stand for a couple during the matrimonial services, as I was thinking of getting married and would like to be well versed on all subjects pertaining to same and still get out of it with as little expense as possible. Yours truly, W. D. East Boston.

Easy to see you're an amateur in the marriage game. Why not get an amateur bride's maid and best man and save the money? I've heard of a lot of likely ones who would officiate just for the eats. Or if "there ain't goin' to be no eats," cut out the help altogether and let the reverend doctor operate on the two of you alone. You'll be hitched up just as fast for a long journey if you side track the accessories.

Straight Tips:—Yesterday I started to smoke a cigarette at exactly 1:10 P. M. and smoked the same nail until 2:15 P. M. I think that is a record. What do you think? JERRY. Mt. Pleasant Alleys, Roxbury.

All right, Jerry. Now, if you and your humorous friends will do a double-somersault off the top of Bunker Hill monument you will be admitted at Danvers without further examination.

Straight Tips: A bets B he cannot walk to New York and back in an appointed time. B takes bet and walks to Stamford, Ct., and back. Then B claims he can ride to Stamford and then walk to New York and back to Stamford and then ride home. A says he cannot do that and he must walk over again the whole distance. B says he doesn't have to walk the whole distance again. C. C. F. Holyoke.

B must be tired and has got over his fit of walking.

GOLF GOSSIP CLUB NOTES

Harold C. Richards of New York, who is a member of the St. Andrews Golf Club, is a most enthusiastic and able "Rover." He won the Maplewood championship last year, defeating Brice Evans 1 up on 36 holes, and was runner-up in the White Mountain championship at Waumbek to R. C. Carroll of Greenwich, the present champion.

The Essex County Committee in charge of the tournament this month have made the Essex Cup an almost permanent trophy, in that an amateur must win the cup three successive times for the permanent possession of it. This is almost an impossible feat, as there are so many good amateurs that enter the meeting each year and all of about equal ability.

Miss Dorothy Campbell, the Scottish player and winner of the women's championship of the United States at Philadelphia last year is now playing golf at the Toronto Clubs, and will be in the pink of condition and form for the championship at Homewood this year, where she will defend her title.

With the fact that the fields now competing in open tournaments of this State are usually numbering over a hundred, it is welcome news that there are some new courses being constructed to receive the overflow of the next few years. Belmont Springs is fast becoming completed, while the Wellesley Country club has all kinds of promise for a popular and golfy nine hole course.

The last open tournament of the year falls to the lot of the Belmont Springs Country club, and will attract an enormous field. This course, which has been much heralded as one of the possible championship courses in years to come, has a lot of work yet to be done before real golf can be played over the 18 holes, but its natural resources, augmented by the skill of Donald Ross and the committee in charge, allow little doubt as to the success of the links. October 22 is the date, and it is at this time that all suburban Boston golfers will be formally introduced to the Belmont Springs Country club.

Much interest is being taken in Jack McDermott, the native born golf professional who was in the triple tie for the title of open champion of the United States this year. He showed his worth over the same course (that of the Philadelphia Country club) by winning the Pennsylvania open championship, a short time ago. His score was, 74-72—146, while Will Anderson was second with 147, and Gil Nichols next, playing 152. He will enter the Western open championship, to be played at the Beverly Country Club August 31 and September 1.

BROWNS CORRAL A FAST TWIRLER

APPLETON, Wis., August 25.—Mike "Red" Murphy, the star pitcher of the Appleton Club of the Wisconsin-Illinois League, has been sold to the St. Louis American League Club for $1,500, the sale having been confirmed, when a check for $400 was received from Owner Hedges of the St. Louis Club. Under the terms of the sale Murphy is to report to the St. Louis team at the close of the present season, or in about three weeks, and St. Louis will pay $1,000 more or return Murphy to the Appleton Club May 15, next.

Murphy is the first pitcher in the W.-I. League to be sold this year, and is the first in the history of the league to be sold to a major league club during this year in the game.

The Chicago Stock Yards Irishman is only nineteen years old. He stands 5 feet 10 inches in his stocking feet and weighs 175 pounds. He played semi-professional ball in Chicago last year, but this is his first season on a professional team, and it is more to his pitching than to any other thing that Appleton has led the league practically the entire season.

A Romeo and Juliet of Nineteen-Twenty---By Nell Brinkley

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

And the Romeo of a later day will woo his Juliet from the balcony of a sky-scraper apartment house. He will come to her in an aeroplane, the most modern of man's inventions, but he will woo her in the same impassioned way the original Romeo used. And Juliet will yield her love and her heart to him from the sky-scraper balcony, just as the original Juliet yielded to her lover 'neath Italian skies and from a vine-clad balcony.

Some Causes of Divorce and Some Cures

No. 4.—When Husband and Wife Forget to Replenish The Lamp of Affection.

STILL another matrimonial path leads to the divorce court that might be placarded at every step—Indifference, Lack of Appreciation, Lack of Tenderness.

The moralists, who inveigh against divorce always speak of it as something that people do lightly; as if one got a divorce daily and as joyously as one purchases a red automobile. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Before the most frivolous bring themselves to the point of sundering the tie that is universally regarded as the most sacred and binding on earth; before they take the terrible responsibility of breaking up a home, perhaps, of parting a child from its father or tearing a babe out of its mother's breast or unwinding little arms from about their own necks; before they even open the door of their closet and parade their skeleton before a ribald world, they have gone through an inferno of suffering for which nobody gives them credit.

They have seen love fail; they have eaten of the dead sea fruit of bitter disappointment; they have seen their Castle o' Dreams in ruins about them; they have endured quarrels and bickering, and strife, and torturing jealousy, and have lain awake long nights threshing over and over, in an endless round, the difficulties of the situation before they brought themselves to the point of using the surgeon's knife of divorce to cut away the cankering sore in their lives.

A Wound That Never Heals

But, just as the most skilful operation leaves forever its scar, so does the divorce leave one's life maimed and disfigured with a wound that never quite heals, and that, at times, throbs under its cicatrice.

No, people do not get divorced for fun; and the great question is: What is it that leads up to divorce? What is it that brings a husband and wife who have once loved each other to the point where they can no longer endure each other?

I believe one reason that the light goes out upon the household altar as often as it does, is because both men and women forget to replenish the lamp of affection with oil. It is carelessness, indifference, or lack of appreciation that kills love as often as anything else.

The life of the average married couple is a dull, hard, monotonous grind. The man is chained like a galley slave to his desk, or his shelves, or his pick. Day in and day out, year after year, he toils with all his strength just to keep a roof over his family's head, food in their mouths, clothes on their backs. After his monthly bills are paid he has literally nothing for himself. He is as much shut away from liberty of action, freedom, amusements, as if he were locked up in the hulks.

The woman works equally hard. She, too, is the slave of circumstances. She cooks meals that are scarcely eaten before others must be cooked again. She sweeps floors that must be swept over again the next hour. She darns stockings that are worn out, and must be darned again. She exhausts her intellect in the frantic endeavor to make one dollar do the work of two.

Daily, Dreary Drudgery

Little children cling to her skirts and make a thousand ceaseless calls upon her. Nerve racked, body weary, she goes through the endless, daily drudgery of domestic toil, that leaves no sign of accomplishment behind it.

Both the man's life and the woman's life are hard, and the only thing that could glorify their toil and make it worth while, the only thing that could take the sting out of the bitterness of the sacrifices they are forced to make, would be the continual appreciation and love of the one for whom they do so much.

AND THEY DO NOT GET THIS APPRECIATION AND MUTUAL LOVE. OH, THE PITY OF IT! THE SHAME OF IT—THEY DO NOT GET IT!

The woman takes the man's labor, his very heart's blood, that he is offering up before her, without so much as a "thank you." The man lets his wife kill herself for him, and he makes no more sign that he even sees it than if he were a wooden Indian.

Is it any wonder that they both grow disgruntled, that they drift apart and finally come actually to hate the unresponsive being for whom they have sacrificed so much, and who is too niggardly and mean of soul even to give a word of appreciation by way of pay?

Observation of your friends will bear out this theory. Look at the few happy couples that you know. They are seldom people who are blessed above the average in prosperity. The man has to work just as hard as any other man, but he does it gladly, joyously, because he is working for a woman who rewards his every effort with love, appreciation, and gratitude. He doesn't think it is hard for all of a man's earnings to go to the support of a family. He thinks it's about the best use that money was ever put to.

And the wife has to work just as much as any other woman and make as many sacrifices, but she sings over her sewing machine and does fancy steps around her cooking stove, because her John is going to tell her that, in her made-over dress, she's prettier than Mrs. Astor in a Worth costume, and that Delmonico couldn't turn out such a rump steak en casserole.

Pity herself? Not that woman! She considers herself the luckiest person on earth, and the divorce court never comes within a million miles of that home.

A famous divorce lawyer once told me, cynically enough, that, in all of his experience, he had never found a couple that wanted a divorce until he or she got an eye on somebody else.

Human Heart Hungers for Love

That speech glimpses a great and pathetic truth, for it shows that the human heart is so hungry for love, for appreciation, for tenderness that it is always reaching out after them. It cannot reconcile itself to die of starvation, and, in its desperation, it takes the unlawful love with as little compunction, and perhaps as little blame, as the starving man steals a loaf of bread.

It is the man whose wife gives him no tenderness or appreciation at home who seeks love away from home. It is the woman whose husband ceases to be a lover who finds an affinity in some other man. These are the men and women who furnish the grist for the divorce mill.

It is a strange and pitiful thing to think of how many marriages go to wreck and ruin for want of so little a thing as a little praise, a few words of acknowledgement and appreciation, but big catastrophes often result from little causes.

Which is a point worth the earnest consideration of every married couple.

Defy Hot Weather

For those who suffer from heat, exhaustion, insomnia, poor stomachs or weak bowels, life during hot weather is made worth living by using a little genuine in the form of ginger soda, lemonade, milk-shake, egg-nog or tea. Delicious, refreshing and always healthful. Taken hot, Sanford's Ginger stops cramps, pains, colds, chills and dangerous summer ills, quiets the nerves and promotes natural sleep.

Sanfords Ginger

A dash of Sanford's Ginger in puddings, custards, ice creams and other desserts, lends a new snap and richness to the flavor. Sold by druggists and grocers everywhere. Look for the Owl Trade Mark, lest you get a cheap, worthless or even dangerous substitute.

Why He Valued the Cheap Picture

By KENNETT HARRIS

HIS father, who was something of a dub, artistically speaking, named him Raphael Giotto, which are good names, but in imperfect harmony with Biggin. Around the studios he was known as "Raffy." Raffy was not exactly a genius, but he was decidedly clever, and, having been reared from infancy in an atmosphere of megilp and turpentine, tempered with tobacco, with the added advantage of constant contemplation of more or less recognized masterpieces of line and color, he turned out some quite creditable work by the time he was twenty, and was spoken of by a few persons of perception as "one of our most promising young American artists."

At twenty-two Raffy discovered what was an undeniable fact—a masterpiece of line and color. It was brunette and called Josephine and her father was a contractor in a small way, who rejoiced exceedingly in the patronymic O'Rourke. Mr. O'Rourke objected rather seriously to Raffy, and as his daughter was at that time hesitating between the promising plumber, the matter was settled.

"But we'll have to wait," said Josephine.

"I'm afraid so, heart of my heart," agreed Raffy, sadly. "I don't suppose I'll get that check for four or five days—possibly a week."

The check came in three days, and in three days Josephine was Mrs. Raphael Giotto Biggin. They went to the Adirondacks and were deliriously happy. Raffy was, at least. He would sit for half an hour at a time silently and rapturously contemplating his wife's lines and colors—until she woke him up.

She Thought the Place Dead

"Well, why don't you say something? You aren't very lively company, Raffy."

He laughed contentedly, and began to talk to her—stupid talk—talk about middle distances and tones and vistas and values, and pretty soon she yawned as widely as her perfect little mouth could stretch.

"Why on earth did you pick out this miserable place to come to?" she asked.

"Why, what's the matter with it?" asked Raffy. "I thought you liked it."

"I do," she said. "But then it's so dead. Couldn't we just as well go where there's some kind of amusement—or something?"

Raffy regarded the matter very tolerantly, and a day later they went where there were hotels and bands and merry-go-rounds and bumps, and they had a perfectly delightful time. Josephine did, at least.

When the honeymoon was over Raffy and his wife settled down to light housekeeping in a couple of dingy little furnished rooms adjoining the studio. There they lived for a year or two, wearing off the glamour of their romance and adapting themselves as nearly as might be to the stern realities of themselves.

There were compensations for both. If Raffy found Josephine lacking in the sympathy that he fondly imagined, there were still the curve of her cheek, the sweep of her long eyelashes, the roundness of her arms and their taper to the wrists to look at. And she actually could cook, and she really was affectionate. If Josephine found Raffy shockingly neglectful of his best interests when they came into conflict with his ideals, improvident, extravagant and incomprehensible, he was at least kind and generous—and a handsome fellow, withal. They got along about as well as the average and perhaps a little better, until Raffy's circumstances became so improved that he felt able to afford a home of their own.

Her Ideas and Weakness

That was the way of it. Josephine had ideas of her own about house furnishing. She had a penchant for plush, a weakness for what-nots. Her notion of a floor covering was a good body Brussels, with roses and wear in it—not the faded Bokhara that Raffy was crazy enough to buy at a price that would have covered twenty good reversible Fall River Smyrnas.

Raffy would come in to find a new rosewood-cherry hatrack, and a deeply bevelled mirror, staring the golden-oak hall chair out of countenance. In the sitting room, mahogany would be swearing at mission, and the bedrooms were discords in curly birch and art squares. Josephine was greatly addicted to bric-a-brac, too, and one by one the rooms became choked with monstrosities in cheap ormolu, near-Dresden shepherds and shepherdesses, bohemian glass vases filled with dyed grasses and peacocks' feathers. It was before the pyrographic mania, but the ribbon-bow decoration and the hand-painted pansy and owl plaques were still in vogue, and Josephine went the limit.

It may be imagined that Raffy did not give in without a murmur or a struggle, but in the end Josephine wore him out.

"Other men leave the house to their wives," said Josephine, with flashing eyes. "I don't interfere with your studio, do I? Then I'll thank you to let my parlor alone. Everybody but you thinks that we have a lovely home. You are the one person that objects to me having pretty things around me. If you had your way the place would look like a barn."

"You've made it a cross between a junk shop and an easy payment furniture emporium," retorted Raffy. "But I would like to draw the line at that picture."

It was a recent acquisition of Josephine's, a landscape with purple topped mountains in the background and an unrippled lake in the foreground, in which verdigris foliage and a vermilion boat were faithfully mirrored. It cost $4.98, including the frame.

He Kept the Picture

"I don't see anything the matter with the picture," said Josephine, "except that you can tell what it's intended for."

Raffy shrugged his shoulders and turned away. He made no further protest, but he stayed more and more at his studio. When he was at home he was in torture as long as his eyes were open to his surroundings. He grew sullen and sarcastic, and so matters went unhappily until Josephine died.

At the present day, Raffy is quite a distinguished painter. His pictures bring quite fabulous sums, as picture prices go. He is also noted for his eccentricities and his unsociable disposition. He lives all alone in a most unpretentious little house that is a nightmare of Philistine furnishing, and to which nobody is ever invited. Nothing has been changed since Josephine left it, except that a picture has been moved from the sitting room that it disfigured to Raffy's bedroom, his own particular retreat. It is a picture of purple mountains and unrippled water.

It seems that before she went, Josephine called Raffy to her and said, in a weak voice, "Raffy, dear—that picture—I got it because it reminded me of the place we went to when—when we were married. Where—we were so happy, dear."

Summer Breakfasts

SOMETHING new, something different, is essential for the Summer breakfast when most persons are worn out with the Winter's work and enervated by the heat.

For your Summer breakfast, for instance, instead of the cooked cereal that you have been eating all through the Spring months, why not substitute rice cooked in milk and cooled to a jelly? With whipped cream it will be found both refreshing and nourishing, and its difference from ordinary breakfast cereals will make it acceptable. Unlike most cereals, rice, sago, tapioca are not indigestible and unappetizing when cold. The average cereal served cold in a mold is as unpleasant a dose as could well be imagined.

With jellied rice, sago or tapioca some very sweet berries may be served. Wild berries so sweet and ripe they are almost ready to melt are the ideal thing. Acid fruit should never be served with cereal.

Do not serve hot bread on hot mornings, even if the family desire them, for they often produce a dull, uncomfortable feeling which lasts all day. The digestive apparatus should be taxed as little as possible in hot weather.

On very hot days the coffee can be chilled and served with ice if desired, but ordinarily is is better to serve it hot. An entire meal of cold food is very seldom satisfactory or healthful.

If lamb chops are served let a square of mint jelly or a separate plate accompany each one. If meat croquettes are used decorate them with watercress. Usually croquettes and other fried dishes are to be avoided on hot days.

The sight of green appeals to the eye and stimulates the Summer appetite. For that reason if a breakfast salad is not served and the meals are not garnished with bits of green it is well to have a bouquet of ferns or garden flowers in the centre of the table. Sea green china and soft grayish blue Canton china ware are ideal for Summer. Even plain white is preferable to hot reds and golds.

With soft greens and white china and some delicate ferns for a centerpiece one has the table ready for a charming hot weather breakfast. Serve some ripe fruit for the first course, and together with jellied rice and whipped cream, a puffy French omelet, cornmeal muffins and a fragrant cup of coffee, the most exacting person will be pleased with the meal. After such a breakfast the whole face of the world will take on a different aspect. This is not fancy, but fact. There is an old saying that one leans toward Calvinism before breakfast and Universalism after breakfast, but this depends upon the breakfast, especially in torrid Summer mornings.

HOW TO DEVELOP THE BUST

Wonderful as it may seem, we have found a simple, harmless way to develop the bust. It is Sorose, the discovery of a well known woman physician who used it with remarkable success in enlarging her own bosom and then won the gratitude of scores of her patients.

If Sorose does not enlarge the bust measurement from three to seven inches, we guarantee to return the money paid for it. Do not think you must stay flat-chested and with unattractive form. Use Sorose and get beautiful development just where you need it. This treatment is not recommended for anything but development of the bust. Full three weeks' treatment costs only 1.00 at the best agents, Houghton & Dutton, or by mail postpaid from the Embee Toilet Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

When a Man's Deeply in Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

I KNOW a man who has set his heart on winning a girl who declares that she likes him, but will never be in love with him. He fell in love with her before he went to college, and he has now graduated and is in business. During the last five years he has never wavered in his devotion.

At times six months would pass without his seeing her, and mutual friends of his and the girl would say: "Well, at last H—— has become discouraged and given up."

Then H—— would reappear as quietly and as devoted as ever.

He will win, I fancy, through sheer perseverance and making himself necessary to her.

"He makes me so angry," she said one day, with a vexed laugh. "He is always on hand when I want anything. I'll have to marry him in spite of myself."

He'll Win by Determination

He never changes, never shows jealousy of any of the men attentive to her; but I know he must have times of depression, for sometimes his lady love is a haughty girl and leads him a fine dance.

If grim determination can win, then I think he will get her. She does not realize how much she depends on him and, if he were to look at another girl, she would be the most astonished girl in the world.

Once I advised him to try that, but he shook his head and said, "No; I must win her by making her love me, not by making her jealous."

There is one item of information that I can give to any young man who is having trouble in winning the girl of his heart, and that is that all girls like a man to be earnest.

If she refuses your proposal, don't take her "no" for final.

She may be half frightened, and not quite know her own mind and, not quite knowing what to say, she says "no"—and then cries her heart out because she said it.

Don't be afraid to ask her; there is no disgrace in being refused; very few men marry the first girl they ask.

If you have no prospect of being able to marry, under four or five years, you have no right to ask a girl to become engaged to you.

A Big Salary Isn't Necessary.

A large salary is not necessary to happiness; but you should be confident that you can support a household before you assume the responsibilities of a married man.

Don't propose the minute you discover you are in love; wait a week or so, and, by that time you will be still more in love or less so—in either case it's wise to wait.

If one girl turns out to be a heartless flirt, don't conclude that all girls are the same; for they are not.

There is a good mate for every man in the world, if he only has the sense to recognize her when he meets her.

Wait for your mate, young man, or, better still, go look for her and don't fling your heart away on the wrong woman, just because her eyes are blue and her cheeks pink.

Your real mate may not be the least bit pretty, but she is the right woman for you just the same.

The Wind

By CONSTANCE MORGAN

I AM the Wind! Make way!
I have rushed through the dark back places
Where the dust of the ages lay;
I have breathed into weary faces
With a breath from the Heart of Day;
I have whispered of unknown graces
To the dwellers in Earth's dark places.
I am the Wind! Make way!

I am the Wind! Stand by!
I must toss and bustle and harry
Where the leaves of the forest lie;
I must fetch and bustle and carry
From the ground to the roof of the sky;
I may never have time to tarry,
There are numberless things to carry.
I am the Wind! Stand by!

I am the Wind! Ah, me!
I have sobbed with the children's crying,
I have laughed at the height of their glee,
I have lived with the sad and the dying,
I have rocked in the arms of the sea;
And I know there is reason for sighing,
For I thrill with the children's crying,
I am the Wind! Ah me!

DON'T WABBLE

DON'T you weaken! Make a bluff
And laugh at what assails you.
Show the world you are the stuff
And prove that nothing ails you.
Don't you wabble! Stand up straight!
With courage all the bolder,
Double up your fists at fate
And hit right from the shoulder.

VACATION PHILOSOPHY

THE man who cannot get away
Should never pause to show regret,
But take his pleasure every day
And find joy, should ne'er forget
That while 'tis pleasant far to roam
The sanest place to stay is home.

J. H. DILLON NEW HEAD OF STATE A. O. H.

LOWELL, Aug. 25.—John H. Dillon of Boston is the new State head of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He was elected at the annual convention here after a close contest with John F. Donnelly of Cambridge. Mr. Dillon for the past two years has been vice-president of the State organization.

William I. McLaughlin of Worcester was elected vice-president by acclamation, there being no contest. Jeffrey E. Sullivan of Fall River was re-elected secretary, also by acclamation.

The two-sided contest for treasurer was won by a narrow margin by J. J. O'Connor of Holyoke, over Edward Long of Randolph. Both men have for the past two years been presidents in their respective counties.

The Ladies' Auxiliary elected as its president Mrs. Mary A. Cavanaugh of East Boston. Miss Mary A. O'Reilly of Ware was elected vice-president in a spirited contest, while Mrs. Susan McNamee of Somerville was elected secretary without opposition.

Mrs. Ellen Murphy of South Boston was elected treasurer over Miss Elizabeth Hennessey of Weymouth by a close vote.

At a banquet following the election and attended by more than 1,000 delegates and guests, addresses were made by former National President Matthew Cummings of the A. O. H. of Neponset, Dr. J. C. Hexamer of Philadelphia, president of the National German-American Alliance; the Rev. Philip J. O'Donnell, State chaplain of the A. O. H.; Congressman Butler Ames, Mayor Meehan of Lowell, Mrs. Mary McCarthy of the National Ladies' Auxiliary, Mayor John T. Coughlin of Fall River and others.

SONG HIT FREE—"Throw Up Your Hands," from "Up and Down Broadway." Words and music with the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

St. Zavier's Hall, the latest addition to St. John's College at Danvers, was dedicated to-day by Archbishop O'Connell. Charles Logue, the builder of the hall, acted as chairman of the reception committee. He was assisted by Edward Graham, architect of the college; F. F. Driscoll, William J. McGaffee, Michael Ahearn, Geoffrey Lehy, William J. Carlin, James Carney and P. J. Keating, all of Boston; Joseph P. Shortell, Michael J. McCarthy and Daniel Donahue of Salem; Francis H. Caskin and William B. Sullivan of Danvers; Michael A. Sullivan, Augustine Dooley and Dr. M. F. Sullivan of Lawrence.

STATUE OF CHRIST AT ROSLINDALE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Standing outside the Church of the Sacred Heart in Roslindale, ready to be unveiled, is the only symbolic statue of Christ ever erected outside a Catholic church in America. In Europe this is quite the custom, but this is the first time a similar piece of sculpture has been so placed on this side of the water.

It is the work of Hugh Cairns, the noted Boston artist, and took ten months to complete.

The figure is of heroic proportions, standing ten feet in height. It is of pink Tennessee marble; the pedestal of pink Milford granite, and is also ten feet high, or a total of twenty feet. About the base of the pedestal is a bronze band inscribed with the names of the subscribers who give the statue to the church to commemorate the erection of the new sanctuary, which was dedicated on June 6.

Following the formal unveiling and dedication of the statue there will be a lawn fete in honor of the generous subscribers to the fund that made the sculpture possible and to commemorate the completion of the fine new church.

NEWEST AND RIGHT KIND OF HATS—Lady Duff Gordon will describe and illustrate Fall millinery fashions in the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

MANY SOCIETY WEDDINGS FOR NEXT MONTH

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

September weddings this year are to be more numerous than October ones, though October has usually been looked upon as the month of all months for Autumn weddings.

Miss Madeline Appleton will lead the gay procession of September brides this year at her wedding to Vincent Kidder is set for September 6th to take place at the pretty little Episcopal Church at Ipswich. The Appletons own a beautiful Summer home there, and it is there that the reception will take place after the ceremony.

Miss Appleton, who is a strikingly beautiful girl, tall and slender, with dark, blue eyes and light brown hair, bears the distinction of being the first of last Winter's debutantes to don bridal attire. Her sisters, Miss Julia and Miss Sybil will be among her attendants.

Miss Leslie Knowles will be the bride par excellence of the following day, September 7, when her wedding to Arthur Blake will be solemnized at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Harding of Westwood. Miss Knowles is the daughter of the late Henry M. Knowles of Beacon street, and her brothers are John and Henry Appleton Knowles. She is a Vincent Club girl, and is excedingly winsome and attractive.

Mr. Blake is one of the five sons of Dr. John G. Blake of Beacon street. His brother, Dr. Gerald Blake, is also to become a benedict in September, and the date for his wedding to Miss Malone is the 10th at Marlett, Pa. Another brother, Fulton Blake, will be his best man.

On September 20 the wedding of Miss Lenore Cobb and Robert Amory, Jr., will take place very quietly at the Church of the Messiah in New York. Mr. Amory is the son of the Robert Amorys of Beacon street, and his bride will be a welcome addition to the younger matron set in the Hub.

Miss Cobb will have no attendants. Her brother, Cleveland, Harvard '06 will be the bridegroom's best man, and the other brothers, Candler and Elliot, who graduated from Harvard last June, will be among the ushers. The others will be George Minot, Amory Leland and Artthur Hutchinson.

Another interesting September wedding will be that of Miss Ethel Ranney, daughter of Fletcher Ranney of Bay State road, and Malcolm Lang of Brimmer street. It is to take place September 10 in King's Chapel at high noon.

The ceremony will be followed directly by a reception and breakfast at the Ranney home. Miss Ranney, who is a distinctly beautiful girl, with purest blonde coloring and rare distinction and charm of manner, is predicted by many to be the most beautiful of our Autumn brides.

She was maid of honor at the marriage of Pauline Webster and Stephen Whitney, which took place in Emmanuel Church last Spring, and attracted quite as much admiring attention as did the bride.

Mr. Lang is the son of the late Benjamin Lang, former organist of King's Chapel. They will reside on Bay State road after their return from the honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Coolidge and their children, who have been at their Beverly estate since May, have gone to Ashland, N. H., for the late season.

* * *

Miss Josephine Bantoul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bantoul of Beverly Farms, has returned to the Summer home of her parents after a delightful visit with the William A. Gastons at their mid-Summer home, "Crosstrees," North Haven, Me. The Gastons will shortly go to their country place, Killingly Farm, Barre, for the late season.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Thomas (Elizabeth Bliss) who recently returned from Europe, are occupying their new home at Milton.

* * *

Mr. Herbert M. Sears is to give a ball at the Somerset early in December to introduce his pretty blonde daughter, Miss Lillian Sears. Miss Sears will be numbered among the wealthiest of our debutante heiresses the coming season, ranking next to Miss Helen Hooper.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. John Bigelow, Jr., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis King Carey of Baltimore at their beautiful Summer estate at Nahant.

* * *

Mrs. W. G. Bowdoin of Baltimore and her son are among the recent arrivals at York, Me.

Miss Eleanor Allen of Commonwealth avenue, is the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. Roderick Terry at Linden Gate villa, their fine estate at Newport.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Heman Burr are the guests of Mrs. Burr's aunt, Mrs. Bell, at York Harbor.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. A. Lawrence Rotch and their children are at Northeast Harbor, Me., for the rest of the season.

IMMIGRANT SUES U. S. COMMISSIONER

An order of notice is returnable on Friday in habeas corpus proceedings brought in the United States District Court to-day by Pio Sabatino Savini against Immigration Commissioner Billings. Savini is a farm laborer and came here recently on a White Star liner. He was detained by Commissioner Billings, and is now held in custody. Savini asks to have the commissioner required to state the reasons why he is held, and that pending the hearing he be allowed to land under a bond.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

MARKET SHOWS A BETTER TONE

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—A better tone to the London market, with particular reference to American stocks, was reflected when the market opened to-day and the usual weak start was supplanted by considerable strength. The better tone had the effect of driving a number of shorts to cover, and trading became active in consequence. Quotations moved upward from fractions to a point or more.

The chief factor was the fact that the Bank of England made no change in its discount rate. Trade reports in the United States were also favorable. These conditions caused a rise of 1⅛ points in Reading, 1 point in Southern Pacific, ¾ in Union Pacific, 2½ points in Steel, ⅜ in Amalgamated Copper and ⅜ in Rock Island.

STATE ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

Although no change was made in the Bank of England's discount rate to-day the usual story will be tattled about when this increase is made to the effect that it is to restrain operations in American stocks. That was the yarn they told last year, but American stocks were at high record prices this week last year. The reason the rate was advanced last year and must be advanced this year is that between now and January England must pay $300,000,000 cash for American cotton. It makes no difference what the international balance may be on securities, this cash must be produced. English bankers are attempting to befoul the situation by wanting cotton bills guaranteed. Their position is untenable in this connection. They might as well ask for a Government assay on the copper bars they are buying from America.

Those that were looking for hopeful news in the earnings of railroads were disappointed when Lehigh Valley announced that in July its operating expenses were $216,811 greater than in July of last year, while the gross earnings increased only $121,818. Increased wages account for a great part of this discrepancy. All the railroads report normal business, and the gross earnings prove these reports to be true. It is the high cost of doing business that worries them.

One very prominent railroad president said yesterday that the thousands of men in the employ of his system were beginning to realize the danger of losing their jobs as a result of the inability of the railroads to continue improvements. For several years the United States has added about six thousand miles of railroad track each twelve months. The new trackage this year will be about fifteen hundred miles. The discharging of construction crews is making a great impression on the men and the president in question believes it will cause some very thoughtful voting in November. This fear of idleness is increasing the efficiency of the men and that very fact is making it possible for the railroads to discharge more of them.

The market is purely a political one, traders basing their operations on President Taft's recommendation that the tariff needs further revision. The tariff question is an unsettling one to all lines of business, so no wonder that the mere suggestion of more tinkering creates alarm.

Current crop and trade reports continue to be fairly satisfactory. This is particularly true of the corn and cotton crops. The weekly government weather report indicated that favorable conditions had prevailed over the corn and cotton belts during the week, and it is expected that the next Government condition report will make a pleasing exhibit.

DIAMONDS

$19.00 $28.00 $37.00 $80.00 $135.00

FOR FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 26 AND 27

We offer an unusually large list of special diamond rings. By special we mean that we have no duplicates for these prices. Only a few are mentioned here. Each will be sold with our famous refund agreement—the distinct understanding that the money will be refunded if they can be duplicated elsewhere for less than one-third more. Remember, they are all fine genuine diamonds, perfectly cut, with all the fire and sparkle of a diamond costing $200 per carat in the usual retail jewelry stores.

Our facilities for cutting diamonds and importing them direct from the great markets of the world, thereby saving several profits, enable us to sell diamonds at a lower price than most jewellers can buy them.

The purchaser of any one of these Rings will have the privilege of keeping it ten days for comparison and appraisal, and then returning it for the full amount in cash if desired.

AMERICAN WANT "ADS" BRING QUICK RESULTS

Alias Jimmy Valentine

By JOHN A. MOROSO

CHAPTER IX.—(Continued.)

JIMMY'S lawyer told him frankly that there would be a conviction and that the best that could be done was to let the prosecution and trial judge make as many errors as possible, so that an appeal for a new trial might prove successful. That, if granted, would mean his release under heavy bond. He could get the bond and run away. The lawyer was well paid, and his conscience, as far as the public weal was concerned, did not hamper him in his fight.

Jimmy, at times, felt as if he would like to rise from his chair beside counsel, confess to the court and ask for mercy, on the ground that he could, and would, lead a straight life, give up the crooked game for all time, and try to live so that his past would lie dead and buried behind him.

He even suggested this to his lawyer, but withdrew the suggestion when he was told that he was in the wrong court, as far as mercy was concerned; that his confession would remove every possible doubt of his guilt, and his sentence would be all the heavier.

So Jimmy stood trial, and one day the jury filed in and the foreman, with the stern set features of a man who fairly bristled righteousness, announced the verdict—Guilty!

He was remanded for sentence, and, in a few days, taken to court again to hear his doom.

"Ten Years at Hard Labor!"

Jimmy sat, white of face, but cool and steady of nerves, watching the Judge's face. It was a mask of a face, such a mask as comes to the criminal court judge, after years of hearing the voices from the seamy side of life, and having his own soul calloused with the sordidness that stamps the underworld.

Jimmy stood when his name was called. He heard the Judge mumble something, the formal request to know why judgment should not be passed and the punishment meted out.

"TEN YEARS AT HARD LABOR IN SING SING!"

Jimmy sat down, the words ringing in his ears.

"It didn't pay to be crooked," he thought, hazily. "And oh, how I would so like to get a chance to be straight!"

Then he shook himself free of disturbing thoughts and determined that Doyle would not gloat over him. He looked around and saw the detective, his face wreathed in smiles of gratification.

Jimmy looked him fairly in the eyes and smiled.

Doyle gave a short laugh and, leaning over, said: "You've got your nerve all right, Jimmy."

Jimmy said nothing. He turned to his lawyer and listened to his assurances, that the fight for a new trial would bring results, and that he would not be in prison many months.

The Autumn had long passed and the Winter months in jail, waiting for trial, had brought the pallor to the young man's face. Jimmy felt as if he would sacrifice his right arm just for a brisk walk along a country road and some clean, wholesome air in his lungs.

The Spring time was beginning and, through the court house windows were wafted the exquisite scents that come from new growing things.

Jimmy held out his wrists and a jailer snapped the bracelet over it.

They went out into the lovely day, only to plunge into the jailyard once more, where the jailer got his transfer papers and then they took a train for Sing Sing.

CHAPTER X.

WHEN the great steel barred gate of Sing Sing clanged behind him, Jimmy felt as if he had stepped into the grave.

Ten years cooped up like a wild beast!

He was a young man of superb health, a splendid human animal with a good mind, save for that one little diseased spot, where had grown a mania from too diligent and eager work as a lock expert. He began to feel that his crooked career had been the result of a disease; and the minute that this thought came into his mind he was on his way to recovery. The monomaniac, with a realization of his mania, suddenly becomes a sane man, with nothing to fight except temptation.

And Jimmy Valentine was no weakling. He could put up any kind of a fight. He was ready, sad at heart that he was, and depressed in spirit, to sweat through the ten years of agony and leave the place to put up the more bitter fight of the ex-convict, thrown into society with the police brand upon him.

Meets Red Jocelyn.

Red Jocelyn found an opportunity to come in contact with him after Jimmy had been fitted for his convict garb, his hair cropped and a task assigned him in the packing department.

His old pal was haggard and worn. Jimmy could have wept at the sight of him and then could have wept for himself, as he realized what a few years would do to him in this place.

"Red!"

"Jimmy!"

They grasped each other's hands.

"How much, Jimmy?" asked Red.

"Ten years," replied Jimmy, slowly.

Red muttered under his breath.

"I've a good lawyer," said Jimmy, as if to give some comfort to his friend. "If anybody can get me a new trial, by any sort of legal trick, he'll get it; and if he can buy me out, or bribe me out, he's the man to do it."

Red Warns Jimmy.

"There's something to hope for anyhow, in that," replied Red. "I'm glad we're in the same sort of work. It won't be so tough on me."

Another convict approached them.

"He's a stool," whispered Red. "Look out for him."

The stool pigeon overheard nothing, and, knowing that Red suspected him, he turned off without saying anything.

"What's he after?" asked Jimmy.

"You."

"Me? What do you mean?"

"He's one of Doyle's men, and we have it straight that Doyle won't be satisfied until he places that Springfield, Mass., job on you," explained Red.

"But he's got me safe here for ten years," exclaimed Jimmy.

"It isn't enough to satisfy Doyle. You don't know him; he's a hog—or a wolf."

"How can he get anything on me here?"

The Methods of the Hound.

"He places his stool pigeons where they can make friends with you," Red told him. "Sometimes the men get to swapping experiences of the past. If one tells about a job, that the stool's master has been working on, it is grabbed as a confession and used against him. As soon as his time is up, he is rearrested and tried again, and sent back."

"Fine chance for a man to take his punishment and then try to start out right," mused Jimmy. "He might keep a poor devil here until the day of his death."

"You've got to be careful, Jimmy," urged Red. "This is your first bit, and it will come hard. If you don't take care they'll shove you into solitary. That's hell. Nobody to talk to; no work to do; not a sound to be heard; not a face to be seen. Some of them goes 'bughouse,' and some gives in and tells anything, just to get out where they can w[illegible] and see things."

Jimmy shu[illegible] [illegible]d.

"Remember [illegible] the wardens and guards [illegible] fine, kind gentlemen, Jimmy," Red went [illegible] "If you get one of them sore on [illegible] can make you smart and you have no come-back. Hand them taffy all the time and don't make a kick, never mind what happens."

The supper call sounded. Jimmy hurried to his place in line.

That night in his cell he asked himself if it would be possible to drag through ten years of it. He thought of trying the locks and making a dash for liberty.

No, he decided, that would never do. He would be shot down and retaken alive and then he would know what real torture was.

CHAPTER XI.

TWO months, the most beautiful of the year, the baby and youth days of Spring, passed and Jimmy Valentine, in desperation, had urged his lawyer to greater effort, in his hard task of getting him out of Sing Sing. He had even asked if there was not some way of bribing his way out to the open. He felt that the incarceration would kill him, and that his death would be the dreadful, lingering death of a man with his spirit gone completely from him.

The lawyer got busy, so busy in fact that Detective Doyle became annoyed, then anxious and then frightened.

Doyle had gone leisurely about the work of fastening on Jimmy the Springfield, Mass., robbery, but when it looked as if Jimmy stood a chance of getting a new trial and being released on bond he began to give up his time and thought to building up the new case against his man.

Will There Come, in the Human Race, a Third Sex, "Neutral"?

A Distinguished Frenchman Fears It—It Might Be Very Convenient

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

Madame Gagey-McAdoo has written for the New York American a brilliant review of recent French literature. This review includes Theodore Joran's work on the suffragette movement, "La Trouee Feministe."

What we call "suffragette" in America the French call "Feministe."

Monsieur Joran is one of the brilliant French conservatives, applauding all that is old, dreading the new.

He fears the appearance of woman in politics as a Hollander would fear the weight of a thin stream trickling through a dike.

To Monsieur Joran the thin stream of "feministe" power forbodes a dreadful flood of feminism to sweep away man's beneficent rule.

Monsieur Joran has invented a new danger in our old human race.

He fears that the woman suffrage movement will develop among women a race of beings that will be neither men nor women, but "neutral" beings, a third sex, neither masculine nor feminine, characterized by the fact that it leads a purely selfish life and does not reproduce its kind.

Monsieur Joran looks forward with dread to a class of women that will be not quite women and not quite men, having no children, avoiding that pain and responsibility and taking a full share in government.

Instead of dreading that threatened "third sex," this newspaper, subject to later change of mind, welcomes the "neutral sex" most heartily.

May not that neutral sex be just what we humans want? The highly developed insects have had it for ages.

The bees have one queen, only one real female lady, providing for future generations. The other female bees—of which ALL might have been developed into queens had it been necessary—are all NEUTRAL workers and nurses. They voluntarily give up the excitement and triumph of motherhood in favor of one selected queen mother.

They spend their lives providing food for their queen and for the little bees getting ready for life inside the hive.

Each neutral working bee knows that she had it in her to be the queen, lay all the eggs and enjoy a royal life, yet each accepts her hard task and each will cheerfully give up her life for that of the queen upon whose safety future generations depend.

As for the gentlemen bees—they show us what happens in a suffragette movement logically and fully developed.

The hive keeps quite a lot of male bees—called drones because they don't work. The drones have a happy time for a while—they, too, are fed by the working females. But that does not last.

The queen bee selects her husband—and HIS fate is none too happy, for he lives only one day after he is chosen—a short life, and a merry one, indeed.

When he has been picked out the working "neutral" bees sting to death all the remaining male bees and toss their carcasses out of the hive.

It is stated positively that no Monsieur Joran, fearing female suffrage, ever denounced the ambitious female one-half as vigorously as those poor male bees denounce the bee-suffragettes that calmly sting them to death when they are not needed.

To know something about these things—interestingly presented—get at your library Maeterlinck's "Life of the Bee," or one of Lubbock's good books on insect life.

With the marvellously "civilized" ants it is as with the bees. The ants have one queen, one MOTHER, who has all the children. The other female ants are content to work, protect the queen and the little ants, simply out of pure devotion to the ant nation.

Human beings do not lay eggs, and one mother could not possibly provide a community with a full supply of descendants. But it is not unthinkable that what happens so drastically among the highly developed insects might happen in a limited way among human beings.

To begin with, the appearance of a tribe of "neutral beings," having no sex and no children, might solve our future problem of overpopulation.

As we gradually conquer war and disease the number of human beings on earth increases with frightful rapidity. We see the populations of all the nations growing bigger by millions and millions—far more births than deaths every year.

Human POPULATION gets bigger, but THE EARTH does not get bigger.

Where shall the new millions and thousands of millions live in the future?

Civilization could not kill female infants—as the Indians did, and as some of the Chinese still do. We could not arrange by legislation for the butchery of all infants born each year in excess of the demand.

"How many of the kittens are you going to keep?" is a familiar question. But civilization could never ask "How many babies are you going to keep?" although an absent-minded Frenchman is said to have put that question to a friend whose wife had triplets.

For centuries mankind has been wondering what would ultimately be done with excess population. Malthus and many others have written on the subject.

Now here comes Monsieur Joran with his third or neutral sex to solve a great race puzzle.

When population gets as big as the earth will stand, along will come the new suffragette-childless brigade, their number increasing as the need of cutting down population shall increase. All of those that would rather hear themselves talk than quiet the baby will join the "neutral sex" brigade.

All women taking more interest in their own small waists and pink cheeks and fancy hair than in a helpless, bandy-legged, toothless baby will become neutrals. And not a few men will be among the neutral band also. The man who dodges family responsibility now, who is away amusing himself while his wife goes through the dull days and months of sacred duty, will in future join the childless ranks, and leave no trace behind of his selfishness.

In spite of the talk of "race suicide," which is more or less foolish, it would be a splendid thing for the race if those that do not WANT children could not HAVE any children. It would be fine for the race, and it would mean happiness and health for the babies, if those babies could come only to men and women ardently anxious to have them.

Monsieur Joran's dreaded "third sex" MIGHT solve the problem of over population, and it is amusing to discuss that possibility.

We do not believe, however, that the problem will be solved in that or in any base, evasive way.

The earth will never be troubled with overpopulation, for as humanity reaches higher and higher development the number of children in each family will become smaller.

THE HIGHER THE ANIMAL THE SMALLER THE BIRTH RATE.

The elephant has fewer children than the mouse, and the mouse is a downright "race-suicider" compared with the sardine, which has thousands of infants at a time.

To-day the woman with the big family is to be praised and admired, for in supplying many children she offsets the ravages of disease, war and poverty, and makes it possible for the race to go on.

But generations to come will free women from the slavery of huge families, just as science will surely free them from the agony of childbirth.

And the wonderful powers in woman—courage, devotion, moral strength and unselfishness—will be concentrated upon TWO CHILDREN FOR EACH MOTHER, AT MOST.

With two children for each mother there can be no overpopulation, for the two children in each family will replace the father and mother, and population will remain balanced.

Future humans may see the day when the greatest compliment one woman can pay another will be to say, "My dear, you have such a wonderful voice and intellect, your children will be so valuable to the world that John and I have decided that there must be three children in your family, and we'll get along with one." That MAY happen.

On the other hand, it is quite likely that the power creating this planet put on it—at the start—just as much human-being MATERIAL—that is to say, just as much CONSCIOUSNESS—as this earth could support and as much as it would need.

Some of that consciousness is now vegetating in the lower animal forms, all the way up from microbes to gorillas, waiting for human bodies in which to dwell. As the animals vanish from the earth their varying degrees of consciousness or soul may migrate upward into human bodies and human souls—one human being perhaps absorbing in one brain the thought power of millions of inferior animals.

When ALL the CONSCIOUSNESS on this earth has travelled upward and taken HUMAN shape the earth will be just sufficiently populated, and any more population will be mechanically impossible, because there will be no more CONSCIOUSNESS or "soul" on earth for the endowment of new beings.

Then, what happens.

Why, then, possibly we all stay and work here, accomplishing our destiny on this planet as long as the planet lives—moving on together to another, young, newborn, higher type of world to begin all over again.

What one individual soul is to YOUR body—leaving the body when it dies—the bigger soul called the human race may be to this planet—leaving the planet when IT dies.

Why would not that be an interesting arrangement—all working together here while this earth lasts, all moving up to a higher planet together and beginning again there? Very exciting and worth while, we should say, to hear the cosmic voice crying loudly, at the end of this planet's journey, "All out! Take the planet ahead! Step lively!"

In style all that is required is that it convey the meaning.

He Writes About His Ma as a Story Teller

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

LAST nite Pa took Ma & me out to a resterent to dinner. It was a fine dinner, too. We had everything that seemed good to eat, & there was musick with the meel, & Kernel Dalton, Pa introduced Ma & me to Kernel Dalton, & he explained to Ma & me that Kernel Dalton was a grate story teller. He will knock you ded, Ieffing, sed Pa. Kernel, tell them about the rat that was drownding in a brewery.

Well, sed Mister Dalton, since you ask me, I will tell you how it was. It seems that there was a poor littel rat which had gave up its apartments owing to the high cost of living, & had started living in the cellar of a brewery. It seems, further, that the rat dropped off a rafter & fell in a vat of beer. The poor littel rodent, sed Kernel Dalton, was nonplussed for a moment, & then it beegan to swim. It saw no hoop of escape, & then it beegan for to squeal. A cat heard it squealing, & climbed up the side of the vat & grabbed the rat by the neck. For a moment the rat looked at the cat the way John McGraw would look at a umpire, kind of distrustful. Then the cat spoke. Do not be alarmed, sed the cat. I have just had a good dinner. I dont want to eet you tonite, but if you will promise on pure word of honor as a rat that you will be here tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock, I will be on the spot. The rat promised to be there, & the cat went away. The next morning the cat was there at 8 o'clock, but the rat dident show up. The cat looked all over the cellar, & finally saw a littel rat hole & saw two dark brown eyes looking out, the eyes of the rat she had trusted.

Well, sed the cat, have you forgotten yure date with me. No, sed the rat, but wen I made that date I wasn't sober.

Ha Ha Ha, sed Pa, that is one (1) of the funniest stories wich I have ever heard. Kernel, tell them about the time that you stole Stonewall Jackson's hat & ran away.

I think thare has been enuff story telling for one nite, sed Ma. If thare is going to be any moar story telling, I will tell a story myself. Mister Dalton, sed Ma, did you ever hear of the Yaqui Injuns, out in Arizona? Yes? Well, one day, wen I was a mere slip of a guri, yet not without a good deal of gurlish butty, I was riding a broncho thru the wilds of a Arizony plain, & along came a hundred yelling Yaquis. I griv one (1) look at the painted devils, & then I griv spurs to my steed & away I went. Finally, Ma sed, I was racing down a canyon with the painted devils at my back. My gallant horse was game to the core. He kept running. Jeffries was game, too, sed Ma. He kept running. Anyhow, sed Ma, I finally found, to my horror, that the canyon had came to an end, which the French call a cull de Sack. The cliffs rose a thousand feet strate up in the air. I cuddent turn to the right or left, & heehind me the painted devils were yelling & pursuing me.

How thrilling, sed Kernel Dalton. How did you escape?

I dident escape, sed Ma. They killed me.

My dear lady, sed Kernel Dalton, I thought I was some story teller, but now I firmly becieve that you have it all over me. I must go now, but I shall remember that I have met a real story teller. Then the Kernel went away.
